Army Rules 3rd Private As Guilty

FT. Dix, N.J. (AP) — Pvt. David A. Samas, 20, of Modesto, Calif., was found guilty Friday of refusing to go to Viet Nam and sentenced to five years at hard labor.

A 10-man military court also ordered that he be given a dishonorable discharge and forfeit all pay and allowances.

HARD LABOR

Two companions similarly convicted received prison terms at hard labor Wednesday and earlier Friday.

The court deliberated 14 minutes before announcing sentence. It had deliberated 25 minutes reaching the guilty verdict. Samas had been charged with willfully disobeying an order on July 14 that he board an aircraft bound for Saigon from nearby McGuire Air Force Base.

Samas appeared shaken by the sentence.

His wife, Marlene, who was in the audience, bowed her head as the sentence was read. When she heard "five years" she buried her head on the shoulder of a friend, Ricky Eisenberg of New York, who had been a classmate of Samas at City College of New York. She wept, then rushed to her husband and embraced him. She had cried earlier when the guilty verdict was announced.

Earlier Friday, PFC James A. Johnson Jr., 20, New York, was sentenced to five years at hard labor, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay. On Wednesday, Pvt. Dennis Mora, 25, New York, received a three-year sentence on the same charge.

As Samas was brought to the courtroom by military police, his wife, Marlene, 17, ran to him and embraced him briefly before officers separated the two.

Marlene told reporters, "I didn't think they'd give Jimmy any more than Dennis. I guess it looks bad for my husband."

The three soldiers were picked up by military authorities in New York July 7, 17 days after the Samas couple were married. The soldiers had told a news conference the week before that they would not fight in Viet Nam. They called the war "illegal, unjust and immoral."

Mora's and Johnson's trials each lasted two days. Deliberations were brief. The seven-officer court spent 16 minutes Friday finding Johnson guilty and another 24 minutes passing the sentence.

The sentences are subject to review and appeal through military channels. The last resort is a three-judge civilian panel, the Military Court of Appeal.

Johnson testified for 15 minutes Friday. He said he felt he would be a "criminal" if he fought in Viet Nam. He told the court "I feel our country went halfway around the world to get into a civil war. Peasants are being bombed and gassed so our country can have a stronghold in Southeast Asia."

He said to fight in Viet Nam "would make me lose my personal respect and dignity." He cited the Nuernberg war trials, saying he felt it was his right and duty to disobey an order he felt would make him a criminal.

Johnson, a Negro from the Bronx, testified calmly with clasped hands. He saluted sharply on hearing his sentence, then looked at his parents.

Gemini 11 Crewmen Await Today's Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 11 pilots, their bold space journey delayed by a fuel leak so small only X-rays could see it, took disappointment in stride Friday with eager eyes on today for their new launch day.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr. got the "go" for a 8:25 CST launch after technicians, tediously using a syringe, patched a pinhole break in the Titan 2 booster's fuel system.

Though frustrated, both Conrad and Gordon, in the words of fellow pilot, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard, "were glad the trouble was discovered well before launch. Both said they waited a long time for the Gemini 11 flight and another day wouldn't make a big difference.'

They took it so calmly, in fact, that after being given the disappointing news by Shepard at 4 a.m., they stayed in bed for an extra couple hours of sleep.

All had sailed along smoothly until just seven hours before the Titan would have blasted the astronauts skyward for the 44-orbit rendezvous, link - up and space walk trip — one that could produce a batch of space firsts.

As Gordon and Conrad slept, a launch crewman carrying a lunch-pail size electronic gadget called a "sniffer" got the warning. The device did its job —smelling a hint of toxic fumes spewing from the rocket's side.

The Titan already had been pumped full with 151 tons of volatile fuel.

Not knowing the seriousness of the leak, officials ordered the scrub. By noon, X rays isolated the hole to a minute spot in the oxidizer tank that forms the outer skin of the 90-foot machine.

"It was only a pinhole in a welded area," an official said. Indeed it was — only 1-500th of an inch wide.

"We could have flown with this pinhole," one spokesman said, "but for padsafety reasons they (officials) wanted to take a good long look at it before actually flying."

To fix it, a solution commonly called water glass and techically known as sodium silicate was shot into the hole with a syringe, forming a ceramic-like seal. It then was covered by an aluminum patch.

The delay did no affect the mission's flight plan, an exotic one that calls for the world's quickest rendezvous. Gemini 11 is to catch an Agena target rocket 90 minutes after launch. Previous space chases have lasted four hours or more.

If the speedy hunt is a success, it would be the nearest the space agency has come to simulating the tricky rendezvous astronauts leaving the moon's surface must perform to reach the orbiting mothership for return to earth.

Ethics Men Summon Rep. Lantz Womack

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Lantz Womack, a legislative lieutenant of Gov. John McKeithen, has been summoned to appear before a private hearing of the State Commission on Governmental Ethics.

Womack, of Franklin Parish, was subpoenaed to a private hearing of the ethics groups which oversees commissions, agencies and boards.

Womack is a member of the Louisiana Financial Assistance Commission. The New Orleans States-Item reported earlier this year that Womack received $15,215 in per diem payments from the commission over a four-year period.

LACKS AUTHORITY

The commission lacked the authority to make per diem payments. Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, commissioner of administration, held that members of the commission are entitled only to actual expenses.

During the recent session of the legislature, Womack tried to push through a resolution that would grant the commission authority to make per diem payments but the move got voted down. He argued it was the intent of the legislature to give members of the commission per diem but it was overlooked when the commission was formed.

Another member, Rep. James Leake of West Feliciana Parish reimbursed the state $1,100 of the $1,760 he received as a member during the same period. The state made an adjustment for his actual expenses.

Leake appeared before a private hearing of the commission last month and was commended for his decision to reimburse the state for the payments.

Womack did not appear at the hearing. He said the commission had no jurisdiction over members of the legislature. But the commission said it called upon two legislators as members of the financial assistance commission.

The States-Item said that Womack was served with a subpoena to appear before the Ethics group Oct. 7 in Baton Rouge. Womack was unavailable for comment.

Books Higher

College students on a budget will need to allocate more money this semester to purchase of text books. A check at local book stores reveals some college text books have increased as much as one dollar over the cost last semester.

Righteousness

Two ladies who have obviously not kept up with the names of the many "rock and roll" singing groups were overheard this week discussing "those gospel singers that are coming to the college in October." Further eavesdropping revealed that they were making reference to the Student Government Association concern featuring the Righteous Brothers.

North Viets In Moscow For Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — A high-ranking North Vietnamese delegation met here Friday with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev amid unsupported speculation of Moscow-Hanoi peace moves in Viet Nam.

Diplomatic sources noted that the Soviet press had described the Hanoi delegation earlier as an economic mission. And in addition, North Viet Nam's Foreign Ministry issued a sharp formal statement terming Communist troop infiltration into South Viet Nam a "myth" created by the United States. It also rejected as a hoax President Johnson's statement that he will schedule withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam if anyone shows him a schedule when infiltration from the North is halted.

ECONOMIC AID

Communist sources said the delegation was here to discuss Soviet economic aid and possibly political matters, including relations with Red China.

An official Soviet announcement said Brezhnev met in "an atmosphere of friendship and cordiality" with North Vietnamese Deputy Premier Le Thanh Nghi. Le is a member of Hanoi's ruling Communist politburo. The brief announcement did not disclose what was discussed.

The Soviet delegation included two key officials in charge of relations with foreign Communist parties, strongly suggesting that the talks may have touched on China's role in Hanoi.

The two were party Secretaries Mikhail A. Suslov and Yuri A. Andropov, both ranking Soviet experts on ideological problems and relations with other Communist parties.

The announcement did not say whether any Soviet experts on economic aid sat in on the talks.

Communist sources said the meeting was less important than the reported visit here last month of North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong. That reported visit never was officially confirmed by the Kremlin and no details have been disclosed.

Reports of the visit touched off speculation from Yugoslav sources that Hanoi was moving away from Chinese influence and closer to Moscow, possibly making Hanoi more receptive to peace proposals. Although senior diplomats here said this was nothing more than speculation, Friday's meeting added fuel to the rumors.

The Vietnamese aid mission came to Moscow via Peking, where it signed an economic agreement on Aug. 29. The North Vietnamese also visited North Korea. Communist sources said the Hanoi delegation would later go on to visit East European states in further efforts to get more economic aid.

The Soviet Union has been supplying economic and military aid to Hanoi in ever-increasing amounts. The last aid agreement was announced Jan. 14.

LBJ Signs Landmark Bill For Auto-Highway Safety

THREE SENATORS GET together Friday to prepare plans for speeches against the proposed civil rights legislation before the Senate. They are, from left: Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., D-Va.; Sen. Allen J. Wants Car Made Safe Cheaply

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson signed the landmark auto-highway safety package into law Friday and told the nation's carmakers they should "build in more safety without building on more costs."

The President's message to the auto manufacturers, many of whom were at the ceremony in the White House rose garden, apparently was prompted by some predictions that car prices are going up because of increased steel costs and because some safety features are becoming standard equipment.

NOT LUXURY

"Safety is no luxury item, no optional extra," the President said. "It must be a normal cost of doing business."

The auto safety act requires imposition by the secretary of commerce of federal safety standards for 1968 model cars, buses and trucks. Standards for used cars are to be required in two years.

The highway safety measure requires states to set up safety programs including driver education, vehicle inspection and uniform driver and pedestrian performance standards.

Johnson said, "The full impact of these bills can be achieved only if we create a Cabinet-level Department of Transportation." And he called on the Senate to complete action this year on a House-passed bill to set up the new department.

To run the new program, Johnson said he plans to nominate Dr. William Haddon Jr., 40, a physician-administrator, whom he described as "one of the nation's leading traffic safety experts."

Haddon has been serving as a special assistant to Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, for the last two months. He has held positions in the New York Department of Health and has written numerous papers on traffic safety.

About 30 other congressmen attended, including Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., who launched the current congressional drive for federal auto safety action with hearings last summer.

Seated toward the rear of the audience was Ralph Nader, the 32-year-old attorney whose book "Unsafe at Any Speed" helped spur congressional action.

In an interview afterward, Nader said he is pleased with the appointment of Haddon. And he repeated that, "Everything now depends on how the laws are administered."

As for future relations between the auto manufacturers and the government, Nader said "the signs are not very optimistic." He noted that the industry already has moved to present its views to the government "in a united front" which he said would serve "to stifle dissent and diversity and competition."

The initial safety standards, to be set by Jan. 31, 1967, are expected to include most of the 26 items already adopted by the General Services Administration for government-bought 1968 cars. Seventeen of them take effect for the government's purchases of 1967 models.

Included are head rests, dual brakes, additional interior padding, rear window defoggers and rupture-resistant gas tanks and lines.

The measure requires also that the standards include equipping all new cars with tires able to carry a full load of passengers and a reasonable amount of luggage. And the secretary is required to establish a uniform grading system for tires within two years.

Valley Forge Heir Seeks Loan Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was urged Friday to repay $50,000 loaned by a Pennsylvanian in 1777 to help the starving Revolutionary through the bitter winter at Valley Forge.

It's not the money, it's the obligation to pay an old debt of honor that should prompt the government to come up with the money, says Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash.

Pelly introduced a bill Thursday authorizing the payment and recounted for the House the history of the debt.

In the winter of 1777-78, he said, the ragged Revolutionary Army was almost destitute. There was no money for the Continental Congress to appropriate, the currency was depreciated and public credit was nonexistent.

In the crisis, George Washington turned to the people of Pennsylvania. "Unless aid comes," he said, "our affairs must soon become desperate beyond the possibility of recovery. The Army must disband or starve."

Among the citizens who responded was Jacob De Haven, who advanced $50,000 in gold and large quantities of supplies which have been valued at $400,000.

Quorum Fails To Show

Civil Rights Backers Absent For Debating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who usually support such legislation made up the bulk of the absentees when the Senate failed Friday to get enough members on hand to debate the civil rights bill.

Southern opponents who have made themselves personally scarce in previously aborted sessions showed up Friday willing to start their off-and-on filibuster. Only eight of them failed to answer to their names.

Of the 52 senators who did not put in an appearance and thus left the Senate without the 51 majority required to do business, 38 voted for passage of the 1965 voting rights bill. Thirty of the absentees were Democrats and 22 Republicans.

MANY ENEMIES

This seemed to bear out the observation of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois — who opposes the open housing provision of the legislation — that the bill "needs a few friends — it has plenty of enemies."

Although the issues are not the same, presumably most of the 38 would be willing to support at least a modified version of the present House-passed bill.

The absentees included several senators who have been active in promoting civil rights in almost every field, including the controversial section which would ban discrimination in the sale and rental of housing, with exceptions for home and small apartment owners.

Included among these were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

Political fence-mending at home presumably occupied some of the senators. Ten Republicans and eight Democrats who are actively campaigning for re-election didn't show up for the nose count.

Other factors also appeared to be contributing to the senatorial attendance apathy which has limited debate to a single hour's opposition speech by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., since the leadership began trying to bring the bill officially before the Senate on Tuesday.

The prospect of a dreary, interminable filibuster against the measure by Southern opponents was not one to entice even the bill's supporters into the Senate chamber.

U.S. Educational Lag

Pupils Expose Shortcoming

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening of a new school term exposed incredible shortcomings in the U.S. educational system today.

For instance, it is a shocking fact that you can attend some classes for an entire day without learning to read and write.

Whole phalanxes of pupils prefer recess romping to serious study.

There are teachers so flint-hearted that they banish pets from the classroom. Others insist that money the kids had secretly planned to spend on candy be ponied up for school lunches.

All this, and much, much more, was disclosed by a nationwide Associated Press survey of tots tossed into the academic malestrom for the first time.

Conditions described by some small interviewees bordered the unbelievable.

In a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa., 6-year-old Buzzie Miller, asked what he did in his first day of school, replied with disgust:

"Nothin'. We just didn't do nothin'. We drew a bunch of straight lines and B's and junk like that."

Andrew Reeder, 6, of West Des Moines, Iowa, had an equally disquieting report:

"Aw, we just sat around and sang songs. I didn't learn to read, or write, or anything."

"I talked too much and the teacher put me in the corner," said Charles Hancock, 6, of Atlanta, Ga. "They won't let me bring Laddie to school, either." Laddie is Charles' faithful dog.

Some youngsters behaved as though brainwashed. In Indianapolis Peggy Jo Zucker, 5, remained mute under repeated parental questioning about her attitude toward kindergarten, but finally exploded: "I liked it fine — and that's the last word I'm saying."

In Alexandria, Va., Patrick Steven Gilbride, 6, suffered possible psychic trauma when he learned that the 35 cents he got from pop had to be forked over for a school meal.

"School? I hated it," said Patrick Steven.

All too many children came home in a state of mind like that of Elizabeth Brewe, 6, of Milton, Mass., who chattered:

"I liked mostly everything but I liked recess the best and next I liked it when I ate lunch. When am I going to learn to read?"

A poignant picture of kindergarten life was outlined by Tommy Lee, 5, of Omaha, Neb.:

"We didn't get to do any coloring and I don't have any homework. Miss Morton made us take a nap on rugs but she kept us awake playing that piano."

Here and there a more worldly tyke showed encouraging signs of adjustment to the new modus vivendi.

"Playing out during recess, oh boy, that's fun," said Graham Graves, 6, of Albuquerque, N.M. "We chase the girls."

Army Rules 3rd Private As Guilty

FT. Dix, N.J. (AP) — Pvt. David A. Samas, 20, of Modesto, Calif., was found guilty Friday of refusing to go to Viet Nam and sentenced to five years at hard labor.

A 10-man military court also ordered that he be given a dishonorable discharge and forfeit all pay and allowances.

HARD LABOR

Two companions similarly convicted received prison terms at hard labor Wednesday and earlier Friday.

The court deliberated 14 minutes before announcing sentence. It had deliberated 25 minutes reaching the guilty verdict. Samas had been charged with willfully disobeying an order on July 14 that he board an aircraft bound for Saigon from nearby McGuire Air Force Base.

Samas appeared shaken by the sentence.

His wife, Marlene, who was in the audience, bowed her head as the sentence was read. When she heard "five years" she buried her head on the shoulder of a friend, Ricky Eisenberg of New York, who had been a classmate of Samas at City College of New York. She wept, then rushed to her husband and embraced him. She had cried earlier when the guilty verdict was announced.

Earlier Friday, PFC. James A. Johnson Jr., 20, New York, was sentenced to five years at hard labor, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay. On Wednesday, Pvt. Dennis Mora, 25, New York, received a three-year sentence on the same charge.

As Samas was brought to the courtroom by military police, his wife, Marlene, 17, ran to him and embraced him briefly before officers separated the two. Marlene told reporters, "I didn't think they'd give Jimmy any more than Dennis. I guess it looks bad for my husband."

The three soldiers were picked up by military authorities in New York July 7, 17 days after the Samas couple were married. The soldiers had told a news conference the week before that they would not fight in Viet Nam. They called the war "illegal, unjust and immoral."

Mora's and Johnson's trials each lasted two days. Deliberations were brief. The seven-officer court spent 16 minutes Friday finding Johnson guilty and another 24 minutes passing the sentence.

The sentences are subject to review and appeal through military channels. The last resort is a three-judge civilian panel, the Military Court of Appeal.

Johnson testified for 15 minutes Friday. He said he felt he would be a "criminal" if he fought in Viet Nam. He told the court: "I feel our country went halfway around the world to get into a civil war. Peasants are being bombed and gassed so our country can have a stronghold in Southeast Asia."

He said to fight in Viet Nam "would make me lose my personal respect and dignity." He cited the Nuernberg war trials, saying he felt it was his right and duty to disobey an order he felt would make him a criminal.

Johnson, a Negro from the Bronx, testified calmly with clasped hands. He saluted sharply on hearing his sentence, then looked at his parents.

Ethics Men Summon Rep. Lantz Womack

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Lantz Womack, a legislative lieutenant of Gov. John McKeithen, has been summoned to appear before a private hearing of the State Commission on Governmental Ethics.

Womack, of Franklin Parish, was subpoenaed to a private hearing of the ethics groups which oversees commissions, agencies and boards.

Womack is a member of the Louisiana Financial Assistance Commission. The New Orleans States-Item reported earlier this year that Womack received $15,215 in per diem payments from the commission over a four-year period.

LACKS AUTHORITY

The commission lacked the authority to make per diem payments. Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, commissioner of administration, held that members of the commission are entitled only to actual expenses.

During the recent session of the legislature, Womack tried to push through a resolution that would grant the commission authority to make per diem payments but the move got voted down. He argued it was the intent of the legislature to give members of the commission per diem but it was overlooked when the commission was formed.

Another member, Rep. James Leake of West Feliciana Parish reimbursed the state $1,100 of the $1,760 he received as a member during the same period. The state made an adjustment for his actual expenses.

Leake appeared before a private hearing of the commission last month and was commended for his decision to reimburse the state for the payments.

Womack did not appear at the hearing. He said the commission had no jurisdiction over members of the legislature. But the commission said it called upon two legislators as members of the financial assistance commission.

The States-Item said that Womack was served with a subpoena to appear before the Ethnics group Oct. 7 in Baton Rouge. Womack was unavailable for comment.

Books Higher

College students on a budget will need to allocate more money this semester to purchase of text books. A check at local book stores reveals some college text books have increased as much as one dollar over the cost last semester.

Righteousness

Two ladies who have obviously not kept up with the names of the many "rock and roll" singing groups were overheard this week discussing "those gospel singers that are coming to the college in October." Further eavesdropping revealed that they were making reference to the Student Government Association concern featuring the Righteous Brothers.

North Viets In Moscow For Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — A high-ranking North Vietnamese delegation met here Friday with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev amid unsupported speculation of Moscow-Hanoi peace moves in Viet Nam.

Diplomatic sources noted that the Soviet press had described the Hanoi delegation earlier as an economic mission. And in addition, North Viet Nam's Foreign Ministry issued a sharp formal statement terming Communist troop infiltration into South Viet Nam a "myth" created by the United States. It also rejected as a hoax President Johnson's statement that he will schedule withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam if anyone shows him a schedule when infiltration from the North is halted.

ECONOMIC AID

Communist sources said the delegation was here to discuss Soviet economic aid and possibly political matters, including relations with Red China.

An official Soviet announcement said Brezhnev met in "an atmosphere of friendship and cordiality" with North Vietnamese Deputy Premier Le Thanh Nghi. Le is a member of Hanoi's ruling Communist politburo. The brief announcement did not disclose what was discussed.

The Soviet delegation included two key officials in charge of relations with foreign Communist parties, strongly suggesting that the talks may have touched on China's role in Hanoi.

The two were party Secretaries Mikhail A. Suslov and Yuri A. Andropov, both ranking Soviet experts on ideological problems and relations with other Communist parties.

The announcement did not say whether any Soviet experts on economic aid sat in on the talks.

Communist sources said the meeting was less important than the reported visit here last month of North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong. That reported visit never was officially confirmed by the Kremlin and no details have been disclosed.

Reports of the visit touched off speculation from Yugoslav sources that Hanoi was moving away from Chinese influence and closer to Moscow, possibly making Hanoi more receptive to peace proposals. Although senior diplomats here said this was nothing more than speculation, Friday's meeting added fuel to the rumors.

The Vietnamese aid mission came to Moscow via Peking, where it signed an economic agreement on Aug. 29. The North Vietnamese also visited North Korea. Communist sources said the Hanoi delegation would later go on to visit East European states in further efforts to get more economic aid.

The Soviet Union has been supplying economic and military aid to Hanoi in ever-increasing amounts. The last aid agreement was announced Jan. 14.

Valley Forge Heir Seeks Loan Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was urged Friday to repay $50,000 loaned by a Pennsylvanian in 1777 to help the starving Revolutionary through the bitter winter at Valley Forge.

It's not the money, it's the obligation to pay an old debt of honor that should prompt the government to come up with the money, says Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash.

Pelly introduced a bill Thursday authorizing the payment and recounted for the House the history of the debt.

In the winter of 1777-78, he said, the ragged Revolutionary Army was almost destitute. There was no money for the Continental Congress to appropriate, the currency was depreciated and public credit was nonexistent.

In the crisis, George Washington turned to the people of Pennsylvania. "Unless aid comes," he said, "our affairs must soon become desperate beyond the possibility of recovery. The Army must disband or starve."

Among the citizens who responded was Jacob De Haven, who advanced $50,000 in gold and large quantities of supplies which have been valued at $400,000.

Quorum Fails To Show

Civil Rights Backers Absent For Debating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators who usually support such legislation made up the bulk of the absentees when the Senate failed Friday to get enough members on hand to debate the civil rights bill.

Southern opponents who have made themselves personally scarce in previously aborted sessions showed up Friday willing to start their off-and-on filibuster. Only eight of them failed to answer to their names.

Of the 52 senators who did not put in an appearance and thus left the Senate without the 51 majority required to do business, 38 voted for passage of the 1965 voting rights bill. Thirty of the absentees were Democrats and 22 Republicans.

MANY ENEMIES

This seemed to bear out the observation of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois — who opposes the open housing provision of the legislation — that the bill "needs a few friends — it has plenty of enemies."

Although the issues are not the same, presumably most of the 38 would be willing to support at least a modified version of the present House-passed bill.

The absentees included several senators who have been active in promoting civil rights in almost every field, including the controversial section which would ban discrimination in the sale and rental of housing, with exceptions for home and small apartment owners.

Included among these were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill, Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., Wayne Morse, D-Ore, Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

Political fence-mending at home presumably occupied some of the senators. Ten Republicans and eight Democrats who are actively campaigning for re-election didn't show up for the nose count.

Other factors also appeared to be contributing to the senatorial attendance apathy which has limited debate to a single hour's opposition speech by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., since the leadership began trying to bring the bill officially before the Senate on Tuesday.

The prospect of a dreary, interminable filbuster against the measure by Southern opponents was not one to entice even the bill's supporters into the Senate chamber.

Haile Youth Killed When Wreck Occurs

FARMERVILLE (Special) — An 18-year-old Haile youth, Eddie Thomas, was killed around 1:30 p.m. Friday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a tandum wood truck on a parish road near Haile.

According to reports of the Union Parish Sheriff's Department, the boy was rounding a curve traveling west when he hit an oncoming truck headon.

The boy was the son of Mrs. Ed Thomas of Haile.

Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. today at Haile Church of Christ with V. W. Hayhurst and Percy L. Keene officiating.

Pallbearers will be Lannie Barker, Terry Franklin, Gary Harrell, Kenneth Green, Jimmy Reynolds, and Willie Halie.

The body will lie in state at the residence until time for services.

U.S. Educational Lag

Pupils Expose Shortcoming

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening of a new school term exposed incredible shortcomings in the U.S. educational system today.

For instance, it is a shocking fact that you can attend some classes for an entire day without learning to read and write.

Whole phalanxes of pupils prefer recess romping to serious study.

There are teachers so flint-hearted that they banish pets from the classroom. Others insist that money the kids had secretly planned to spend on candy be ponied up for school lunches.

All this, and much, much more, was disclosed by a nationwide Associated Press survey of tots tossed into the academic malestrom for the first time.

Conditions described by some small interviewees bordered the unbelievable.

In a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa., 6-year-old Buzzie Miller, asked what he did in his first day of school, replied with disgust:

"Nothin'. We just didn't do nothin'. We drew a bunch of straight lines and B's and junk like that."

Andrew Reeder, 6, of West Des Moines, Iowa, had an equally disquieting report:

"Aw, we just sat around and sang songs. I didn't learn to read, or write, or anything."

"I talked too much and the teacher put me in the corner," said Charles Hancock, 6, of Atlanta, Ga. "They won't let me bring Laddie to school, either." Laddie is Charles' faithful dog.

Some youngsters behaved as though brainwashed. In Indianapolis Peggy Jo Zucker, 5, remained mute under repeated parental questioning about her attitude toward kindergarten, but finally exploded: "I liked it fine — and that's the last word I'm saying."

In Alexandria, Va., Patrick Steven Gilbride, 6, suffered possible psychic trauma when he learned that the 35 cents he got from pop had to be forked over for a school meal.

"School? I hated it," said Patrick Steven.

All too many children came home in a state of mind like that of Elizabeth Brewe, 6, of Milton, Mass., who chattered:

"I liked mostly everything but I liked recess the best and next I liked it when I ate lunch. When am I going to learn to read?"

A poignant picture of kindergarten life was outlined by Tommy Lee, 5, of Omaha, Neb.:

"We didn't get to do any coloring and I don't have any homework. Miss Morton made us take a nap on rugs but she kept us awake playing that piano."

Here and there a more worldly tyke showed encouraging signs of adjustment to the new modus vivendi.

"Playing out during recess, oh boy, that's fun," said Graham Graves, 6, of Albuquerque, N.M. "We chase the girls."

U.S. Jets, Copters Clear Away Fringes Of City For Voting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jets and helicopters lit up Saigon Friday night with bombs, flares and tracer bullets in an attack on guerrillas operating at the very edge of the city, evidently in the Communist drive to disrupt Sunday's election.

About 30 of the black-uniformed Viet Cong were reported to have crossed a canal that forms Saigon's southern boundary and hidden among the houseboats, shanties and slum dwellings of the 4th Precinct. Vietnamese police moved into root them out.

The bombing and strafing developed, along with a bombardment of suspected Red approach routes by 105mm batteries ringing the capital, as the government started switching Vietnamese troops to election guard duty.

American and other foreign forces, whose 350,000 men total about half South Viet Nam's military personnel, were left to take up slack in field work until the voters choose a constituent assembly, intended to put the war torn nation on the road to democracy.

Vietnamese soldiers and militiamen were being posted at the 5,238 polling places to combat rising Communist terrorism which, in incidents Friday, claimed five more lives.

The nation's five million eligible voters, some in areas under Viet Cong domination, are to select 108 members of the assembly from 530 candidates, all professed anti-Communists. Councils of the Montagnard tribesmen will name nine other assemblymen to assist in the writing of a constitution.

Highlighting combat reports was a U.S. spokesman's announcement that the North Vietnamese have been using barrage balloons for more than a month in an effort to impede low-level air attacks in the Haiphong area. They may have copied the idea from London's use of such floating defenses against German raiders in World War II.

The balloons, 12 to 15 feet in diameter, are moored by cables at an altitude of 3,000 feet. Pilots spotted 25 in one cluster. The spokesman said no balloon has been shot down and no American aircraft has flown into them.

Briefing officers told of other developments:

— U.S. Air Force jet fighters, spotting a string of surface-to-air missile transport trucks Thursday 30 miles northwest of Dong Hoi, destroyed or damaged six. Eight flights — part of the day's 135 missions above the border — hammered the trucks with rockets and 500-pound bombs in a 13-hour attack.

— A battalion of South Koreans joined Vietnamese infantrymen in mopping up a battlefield 260 miles northeast of Saigon in coastal Binh Dinh Province where 200 men of a hard-core Viet Cong battalion were reported to have perished Thursday. The Vietnamese said they killed 150. Supporting U.S. jets accounted for 50 others.

— A company of U.S. Marines and a platoon of North Vietnamese regulars clashed in a 90-minute fight only 2½ miles south of the demilitarized zone that blankets the border between North and South Viet Nam.

Carmichael Wants Law As Illegal

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, has asked a federal court to declare unconstitutional Georgia antiriot and insurrection laws under which he was arrested.

A suit filed on behalf of the "black power" advocate and his organization also challenged Atlanta's disorderly conduct ordinance and asked that a three-judge panel be appointed immediately to hear the case. No hearing has been set.

The petition called for a permanent injunction against the mayor and other officials to prohibit "impending, intimidating, hindering" SNCC members in exercising their rights.

Attacking the validity of five Georgia code sections on insurrection, inciting to riot, riot and unlawful assembly and the city's disorderly conduct ordinance, the suit charges they violate "fundamental guarantees of free speech, press, assembly, and the right to petition the government for redress of grievances."

Earlier, Carmichael, 25, had waived preliminary hearing and was ordered held for grand jury action under $10,000 bond on charges of inciting a Tuesday slum disturbance which left 15 persons injured.

SWIMMER FAILS

DOVER, England (UPI) — English schoolboy Brian Morris, 14, who had hoped to become the youngest person to swim the English Channel, was forced to give up his attempt Friday after almost six hours in the water. Development Programs Are Offered By 'Y'

General Secretary
Twin Cities YMCA

Helping youth grow in body, mind and spirit is more than a slogan at the Twin Cities Young Men's Christian Association. The "Y," one of the units of the United Givers Fund, offers both youth and adults a variety of health and character development programs.

Programs include year-round swimming instruction, life saving, recreational family swimming and supervised exercises and sports.

The YMCA is supported in a great many activities through funds provided by the United Givers Fund, solicited during the annual UGF campaign drive now in progress. This year's fund goal is $295,482, due to close Oct. 31.

ENROLLMENT

Last year's Twin Cities YMCA enrollments totaled 4,302 in group activities, with an aggregate attendance of 60,908. Approximately one third of these programs were held in neighborhood locations where Gra-Y Clubs, Hi-Y Clubs and "Y" Indian Guide activities were operated.

"Y" summer day camps for boys and girls are another important service of the YMCA. Some 335 children were enrolled during the summer for the day camp, operated in cooperation with the Young Women's Christian Association.

Twenty-two Gra-Y football teams last year provided 313 grade school boys the opportunity to play league ball. Brief character talks or devotional periods after practice were regular features of the program.

HOME - CENTERED

Fathers and sons — 122 of each — joined the "Y" Father and Son Indian Guide Tribes during the past spring. This is a home-centered program detween fathers and their young sons.

High school youths in three local Hi-Y learn about state government by participating in the annual YMCA Youth Legislature at Baton Rouge each spring.

YMCA activities, for boys, girls, men and women, are important assets to the community. The organization is financed by membership fees and the UGF. The UGF subsidy makes it possible for youths to join at moderate rates.

North Viet Nam Chiefs Brand Infiltration As U.S. 'Myth'

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam Friday termed Communist troop infiltration into South Viet Nam a myth created by the United States.

It rejected as a hoax President Johnson's statement that he will schedule withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Viet Nam if anyone shows him a schedule when infiltration from the North will be halted.

In an official reply to Johnson's call for the immediate U.S. and Communist troops withdrawals from the South, a spokesman of the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said:

"It is the United States, and none other, who is the aggressor. The U.S. government has no right whatsoever to demand the Vietnamese people to accept such and such conditions for the withdrawal of the U. S. aggressor army from South Viet Nam."

The statement was broadcast by Hanoi's official Viet Nam News Agency and monitored here.

It added:

Isolated and driven into an utterly awkward situation, the U.S. imperialists have cooked up the myth about Vietnamese committing 'aggression' against Viet Nam, in an attempt to justify their own piratical acts.

The ministry said Johnson "has time and again bluntly declared that 'the United States will stay in South Viet Nam,' that it will not withdraw."

"Thus it is starkly clear," it said, "that the hoax about the conditional withdrawal of U.S. troops, like the one about the conditional 'cessation of the bombing of North Viet Nam,' is but a trick which is part of the 'unconditional discussions' scheme of the United States.

ENROLLMENT

Last year's Twin Cities YMCA enrollments totaled 4,302 in group activities, with an aggregate attendance of 60,908. Approximately one third of these programs were held in neighborhood locations where Gra-Y Clubs, Hi-Y Clubs and "Y" Indian Guide activities were operated.

"Y" summer day camps for boys and girls are another important service of the YMCA. Some 335 children were enrolled during the summer for the day camp, operated in cooperation with the Young Women's Christian Association.

Twenty-two Gra-Y football teams last year provided 313 grade school boys the opportunity to play league ball. Brief character talks or devotional periods after practice were regular features of the program.

HOME - CENTERED

Fathers and sons — 122 of each — joined the "Y" Father and Son Indian Guide Tribes during the past spring. This is a home-centered program detween fathers and their young sons.

High school youths in three local Hi-Y learn about state government by participating in the annual YMCA Youth Legislature at Baton Rouge each spring.

YMCA activities, for boys, girls, men and women, are important assets to the community. The organization is financed by membership fees and the UGF. The UGF subsidy makes it possible for youths to join at moderate rates.

North Viet Nam Chiefs Brand Infiltration As U.S. 'Myth'

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam Friday termed Communist troop infiltration into South Viet Nam a myth created by the United States.

It rejected as a hoax President Johnson's statement that he will schedule withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Viet Nam if anyone shows him a schedule when infiltration from the North will be halted.

In an official reply to Johnson's call for the immediate U.S. and Communist troops withdrawals from the South, a spokesman of the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said:

"It is the United States, and none other, who is the aggressor. The U.S. government has no right whatsoever to demand the Vietnamese people to accept such and such conditions for the withdrawal of the U. S. aggressor army from South Viet Nam."

The statement was broadcast by Hanoi's official Viet Nam News Agency and monitored here.

It added:

Isolated and driven into an utterly awkward situation, the U.S. imperialists have cooked up the myth about Vietnamese committing 'aggression' against Viet Nam, in an attempt to justify their own piratical acts.

The ministry said Johnson "has time and again bluntly declared that 'the United States will stay in South Viet Nam,' that it will not withdraw."

"Thus it is starkly clear," it said, "that the hoax about the conditional withdrawal of U.S. troops, like the one about the conditional 'cessation of the bombing of North Viet Nam,' is but a trick which is part of the 'unconditional discussions' scheme of the United States.

Astronauts' Wives Learn About Delay

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Charles Conrad Jr. and Mrs. Richard F. Gordon Jr. knew of the Gemini 11 mission delay Friday before their astronaut husbands did.

Manned Spacecraft Center officials said the wives at their homes near here were notified at 2 a.m., about an hour before their husbands were awakened at Cape Kennedy and told of the delay.

Both Jane Conrad and Barbara Gordon were disappointed, but in good spirits, officials said.

The six Gordon children and the four Conrad children were perhaps the most disappointed. They were to have missed about a half day of school to watch the launch.

Officials said that Mrs. Conrad, when notified of the delay, said only that this is the "sort of thing that happens in the program." Conrad as pilot on Gemini 5 which was delayed by weather last year. Gemini 11 will be Gordon's first trip into space.

Mrs. Gordon attended Catholic mass at a small chapel near her home early Friday. The priest said mass would be held there again at what ever time Mrs. Gordon wanted it before the launch.

Rhodesian Question

Commonwealth Meet Breaks Up In Spilt

LONDON (AP) — The 22-nation Commonwealth conference broke up for the weekend Friday night with delegates split broadly on racial lines over Rhodesia. Some, however, held hope of a compromise to end the African colony's 10-month old rebellion.

This compromise plan, still to be spelled out in detail, will be heavily pressed on the more militant African-Asian delegations during informal meetings over the weekend.

Its essence emerged from a 30-minute conference address by Canada's prime minister, Lester B. Pearson. He appealed in effect for time to allow a stiffened version of existing sanctions to take effect.

If they failed, he suggested the full weight of a United Nations embargo on trade with Rhodesia could be considered, starting perhaps with oil. He ruled out force as likely to hurt most those whom it was meant to help — meaning Rhodesia's African majority.

After four days of angry debate it was clear that nonwhite delegations at the conference, with the exception of Malaysia and Malawi, want action against the all-white Rhodesian regime and they want it now.

This demand was intensified by Friday morning's Rhodesian High Court decision that the Ian Smith government is unconstitutional. Some delegates said the decision should rule out any further British talks with Smith's officials.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a meeting of the British Cabinet for today, at which the conference and the court decision were likely to be the main topics. Over the weekend, Wilson also is due to be host to some Commonwealth government leaders at Chequers, his country residence.

Two of them, Sierra Leone's Prime Minister Sir Albert Margai and Zambia's Foreign Minister Simon Kapwepwe, have refused invitations as gestures of disapproval of Wilson's handling of the Rhodesia situation.

Pearson's speech was described by aides as an anlysis of the situation rather than a set of proposals. They said he is likely to put forward more specific ideas when the conference resumes Monday. One point he made was that independence for a legal Rhodesian government need not necessarily await majority rule on the one man, one vote principle, provided Rhodesia's Africans had cast-iron guarantees of political advance.

This concept runs totally counter to the main African-Asian line, which insists Britain should step in to set up an interim government until independence is achieved on the basis of total adult suffrage. African delegates have reduced this formula to a new slogan for the political dictionary — "NIBMAR." It means "No Independence Before Majority Rule.

Florida Hits Moonshiners In August

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — State beverage director Ren Morris reported Friday agents destroyed 25 moonshine stills and 938 gallons of whisky during August in Florida.

In addition, said Morris, 22 vehicles were seized, 257 criminal cases made and 14,249 gallons of fermenting mash poured out.

Morris said agents seized 2,853 cartons of cigarettes without tax stamps on them in Dade and Broward counties, and arrested six persons.

Revenue collections for the month totaled $11,035,967, of which cigarette taxes amounted to $5.01 million, liquor $2.7 million, beer $2.7 million and wine $517,213.

Red Bloc Joins Vote For Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist-bloc countries lined up for the first time Friday with other U.N. member countries seeking to draft U Thant for another term as secretary-general. U.N. diplomats hoped for some kind of reply from him next week.

Poland and Hungary made known their desire to see Thant ember his decision of last week not to offer himself for a new five-year term. Members of the Latin-American bloc also conveyed to Thant its desire to see him carry on after his term expires on Nov. 3.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko, president of the U.N. Security Council for September, will be host to the 14 other council members at its monthly luncheon next Wednesday. Thant is customarily a guest at the monthly luncheon, and U.N. diplomats believe this will afford an opportunity for the council to informally express to him the overwhelming desire of the majority of the U.N. membership that he stay on in the job.

Bohdan Tomorowicz, the Polish ambassador, met with Thant and later told reporters he conveyed the view of the Polish government that it would welcome a change in his decision. Tomorowicz was presenting his credentials as the new permanent U.N. representative for Poland.

The Hungarian U.N. delegation released a cable from Foreign Minister Janos Peter to Thant expressing hope that "the delicate and difficult international situation, and the repeated expressions of trust put in you by member states will move you to change your decision."

Police Hold Three On Kidnap Charges

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a woman were held on charges of kidnaping, attempted murder and armed robbery Friday after they allegedly forced their way into the home of a prominent Bakersfield businessman and held him and his family hostage for three hours.

Ralph Smith, 55, a realtor and California conservationist, was shot and seriously wounded when he attempted to grab a gun from one of the bandits.

Booked under the names of Jack Manion, Jerry Manion, and Tina Maria Manion, Deputy Sheriff Howard Wines said the men are believed to be Robert Frogge, 35, and William Tudor, 25, who escaped from the Indiana State Reformatory three weeks ago.

Wines said the woman is believed to be Sylvia Frogge, wife of the older man.

The deputy gave this account: 'The trio went to the Smith home in an exclsive residential district of Bakersfield at 4 p.m. Thursday, threatened Smith's wife, Edna, 54, with revolvers, and pushed their way inside the house.

Once inside, one of the bandits forced Smith at gunpoint to drive to his downtown office and there stole about $600.

The other man and the woman held Mrs. Smith hostage at home. When Smith's son, William, 23, arrived home, he was seized.

Rights Bill Situation

As the situation stands right now, it is safe to say that Negro marchers and rioters have killed any chance of obtaining passage this year of a civil rights bill much more favorable to them than the present laws. There appears to be little likelihood that a civil rights bill, as it is erroneously called, will be passed this year. Instead, there is a strong probability that Congress will pass a rather stringent law against interstate promotion of rioting.

Two recent developments have lessened the chances of passage of a civil rights bill more favorable to integrationists and have increased the likelihood of adoption of a federal anti-rioting bill. First of these developments was the statement by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen that he considers the housing section of the civil rights bill now before Congress to be unconstitutional and that he will fight against its adoption in the present form. The second development was an outrageous outbreak of Negro rioting in Atlanta, Ga., in support of a Negro automobile theft suspect who was wounded by police.

News analysts recently have been saying almost unequivocally that the so-called civil rights bill, containing the housing section, cannot be passed over Senator Dirksen's opposition. There is strong reason to believe that sentiment in Congress has changed mightily and that many Congressmen who formerly were pushing for passage of the bill have no "stomach" for it now. They have been alarmed in two ways: first, their own direct reaction to Negro rioting, lawlessness, inflammatory speeches and demands for black power; second, they have sensed a mighty surge of public sentiment against such lawless and inflammatory conduct and are afraid of what their constituents might do to them in the November elections if they continue to support looters, arsonists, insurrectionists and killers.

Incidentally, it is well known that great numbers of Negroes, particularly in the South and including Louisiana, have no sympathy whatever for the lawless outrages and demands for black power. Not only are they aware that this type of demonstration will react terrifically against the acquiring of actual rights by Negroes but the common decency which most Negroes and whites uphold makes this sort of thing abhorrent to them.

The incident in Atlanta in which police were compelled to use tear gas to rout 1,000 rioting Negroes was another clear case of insurreaction. Heretofore, the shooting of a suspected criminal, either white or black, who refused to surrender, so that police might determine his guilt or innocence, has been regarded generally by white and Negro citizens as a permissible step in law enforcement. Rioting by the Negroes and attacks upon law enforcement officers acting in line of duty can scarcely be regarded as anything but insurrection.

One of the outrages of the Atlanta incident was that the peace-pleading mayor of Atlanta, who had promised a proper investigation of the shooting, was knocked to the ground from atop an automobile when police were attacked with rocks and bottles by a surging mob.

Leaders of the so-called Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee, which recently has adopted a policy of extreme violence and which has been spewing out propaganda long ago spawned by the communists of Russia, were in the forefront of the melee, thus giving almost positive proof that the militant insurrection against Atlanta police was communist - inspired.

Action of Governor Carl Sanders of Georgia in ordering state troopers to stand by to assist local police was commendable. In fact, it is difficult to see how he could have done less in the situation that existed and there is reason to believe he would have been justified in calling out the national guard. When a state of insurrection exists, strong action must be taken to put it down.

When Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., climbed atop a car in a riot-torn Negro district and tried to reason with the crowd, he was greeted with taunts of "white devil" and "black power." The mayor was toppled from his perch and fell to the ground when the crowd surged against the car.

Showing his respect for law and order and apparently not in accord with the apparently communist-led riot, one Negro leaped atop another car and joined Mayor Allen in his plea for peace but was pulled down and beaten by about 15 Negroes.

After these incidents, the mayor ordered police to take whatever steps were necessary to disperse the crowd.

Senator Dirksen is right in saying the housing section of the proposed civil rights bill is unconstitutional. It would tear the heart out of our constitutional guarantee of the sanctity of the home and would make a farce out of this nation's guarantee of individual and personal freedom.

Coming at the time they did, the apparently communist - led riotings, burnings and killings may have been a blessing in disguise. They may have prevented the adoption of another Constitution-destroying law.

Space-Search Argument

Anyone who believes the United States and Russia are wasting money in their search for other inhabitable planets may have "another think coming" if he reads figures on the Earth's "population explosion." These figures reveal that the "standing room only" theory is not strong enough to cover the situation.

One of four situations is absolutely certain to develop within a fairly short time as history is measured. These four situations are: worldwide genocide, or partial extermination of humanity, by deliberate intent, such as through stringent birth - control regulations or by elimination of a certain portion of the population; decimation of the population by disease and starvation; decimation by war; fulfilling of the biblical prophesy of destruction of the entire world; discovery of additional living space, of which there is plenty.

Except for those who base their hopes on a hereafter known as heaven, none of these situations is attractive unless we are able to find places of residence on other planets.

Here are the population - explosion figures: At its present rate, Earth's population will double by the year 2000, which is only 34 years away. By the year 2600, which is only 634 years away, each earthling will have less than a yard of land. By the year 3600, which is only 1,634 years away (a short time as history goes), the weight of the earth's population would equal the weight of the earth itself.

With many nations already badly over-populated, even the doubling of the world's present population might present tragic problems. Recently, the amazing statement was made that half of the people born during the entire history of the world are alive today.

Time to look for more living space?

Gold Mining Subsidy Clash Seen

Administration And State Legislators At Odds

THE JOHNSON administration and a bipartisan group of Western and Midwestern legislators are on a head-on collision course over gold policies.

The stage for this explosive clash was set by little-noticed votes in the Senate and House.

Acting in close collaboration, the Interior committees of the two chambers rebuffed within 24 hours of each other, strenuous administration efforts to block bills to subsidize gold mining in the United States. The measures were approved by decisive majorities, and are now awaiting consideration by the Senate and House.

The controversial bills, while differing in methods and amount of subsidies, are designed to increase domestic gold production and to bolster the nation's steadily diminishing gold reserve.

As of September 1, these holdings had sagged to $13.2 billion — the lowest since 1938. At the same time foreign and other claims against this reserve rose to $26.7 billion — highest on record.

Under the Senate and House bills, the government would continue to purchase gold at $35 an ounce. But in addition, the Treasury would pay a certain percentage of the mining costs under a prescribed formula.

Estimates of the cost of this subsidy are nebulous and indefinite. Neither the supporters nor opponents of the legislation would hazard any figures. Both are agreed that the amount would "run into the millions."

While the U.S. gold reserve has steadily diminished since 1949, from $24.563 billion to $13.2 billion as of the first of this month, domestic production has consistently declined. From an output of 4.87 million ounces in 1940, production fell to 1.45 million ounces in 1964 — last authoritative figures available.

At the same time, gold consumption by industry and the arts increased from 1.05 million ounces in 1940 to 4.8 million ounces in 1964.

THE COMING BATTLE — Despite vigorous White House objections, Senate and House Democratic leaders plan to bring the gold subsidy bills to a vote before Congress adjourns.

The legislative leaders promised to do that after Democratic members from Western and Midwestern states declared this would help them in hotly contested election battles.

Significantly, Republican leaders also favor action. They want a free-wheeling floor discussion of the administration's fiscal policies, both at home and abroad.

Such a debate is viewed as a campaign boost to Senator Karl Mundt, R-S.D., one of the sponsors of the legislation, who is having a tough re-election fight. Gold mining is important in South Dakota's economy, and the issue of increasing gold output is playing a leading role in his contest.

Other sponsors of the measure, including several up for re-election, are Senators E. L. Bartlett, D-Alaska; Alan Bible, D-Nev.; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska; Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.; Gale McGee, D-Wyo.; George McGovern, D-S.D.; Lee Metcalf, D-Mont; and Frank Moss, D-Utah.

House sponsors and leading supporters are Representatives Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo.; Walter Baring, D-Nev.; E. Y. Berry, R-S.D.; John Dent, D-Pa.; Harold Johnson, D-Calif.; Robert Leggett, D-Calif.; Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., and John Saylor, R-Pa.

THE STRATEGY — Three main arguments are the basis for the drive behind the gold mining subsidy — the steadily dwindling gold reserve, the adverse effect this is having on U.S. prestige abroad, and the favorable impact such legislation will have on the economy of Western and Midwestern states.

Led by Representatives Wayne Aspinall, D - Colo., chairman, and John Saylor, Pa., ranking Republican of the House Interior Affairs Committee, the gold bloc will shortly make public a report warning that U.S gold holdings will be completely exhausted by 1976 — 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence — unless drastic measures are taken to increase them.

This jarring fact was admitted by Leland Howard, head of the Treasury's Office of Gold Operations, when he testified before the Aspinall committee in opposition to the subsidy measures.

After Howard had read a Treasury statement contending, "This legislation might upset the monetary system of the free world, since they are hinged to the incontrovertibility of gold at $35 an ounce," he was besieged with challenging questions.

"IF WE KEEP losing gold as we have in recent years," declared Aspinall, "what will happen to this monetary system when we have no gold on deposit?"

"I think Secretary Fowler's statement that I just read explains that we have got to stop the drain on gold," replied Howard. "We must first correct the balance of payments problems. It could be a terribly disrupting thing not only for us but for the world if we don't stop this gold drain."

"We all know that," retorted Aspinall. "Administration after administration has made a hullabaloo about the balance of payments problem, but nobody has really done anything about it."

Competition Boosts Baseball's Business

WHAT BIG BUSINESS in the U.S. thrives most mightly when its facing its most murderous competition?

What big business of ours becomes "hidden expense" to other businesses — running into countless millions of dollars — when it reaches its annual seasonal peak?

What big business employs only about 1,000 workers on the "production line" in a comparatively few cities, and yet gets far more publicity via every communications medium than the giant auto industry which directly or indirectly employs millions in every city and town of the U.S.?

It's the big business of baseball, of course, and with the approach of the World Series, each of the above oddities and many more will emerge with dazzling clarity.

As a typical American female, my interest in baseball's manpower numbers is strictly limited. But as a reporter covering the business side of the news, my interest in baseball's economics is limitless. And the oddities of the industry make my business reporter's eye goggle.

CONSIDER THE "competition" aspect. The usual result when an ordinary business enters a phase of fierce competition is price cutting and a slump in profits, at least temporarily. The usual result when one company is the overwhelming success in an industry is that it is not only sets the pace but also rakes in the fattest profits. The traditional wish of shrewd businessmen is for "enough competition to keep the customers interested and the anti - trust men satisfied but that's all." In baseball, though, the tradition is upside-down. The business shrinks when competition softens. Said one baseball writer I queried, "you've got a point there. When the Yankees were running away with the Series, they came near to killing the box office."

Or consider the "hidden expense" aspect. It is usual for managements to strive for maximum output of workers and to fight against interference with this output. But not when it comes to baseball. During the Series, managements the nation over accept a slowdown in output as a corporate fact of life. Betting pools are organized openly in plants and offices. Many companies broadcast scores over public address systems or post them at regular intervals; other companies permit employes to bring radios to work for the duration.

In the Executive Suite, if any one is in the Executive Suite in the cities where the Series is being played, the TV is on from before the game's start to way after its end. It's impossible to tote up the hidden costs but baseball at its peak must cost other businesses millions of dollars in time off and time lost.

OR CONSIDER the relationship of baseball's numbers to its publicity. There are only 20 major baseball "companies", only two are in a Series, only a minor number of production workers are involved. But tens of millions of written and spoken words will be devoted to baseball in the weeks ahead. The auto industry's publicity, in contrast, is picayune and uninspired.

And this is just a beginning. What industry except baseball treats its production workers both as employes and assets and actually "capitalizes" its employes? What industry outside of baseball prefers to trade its wares than to deal in cash? In what other industry would you find top executives sitting down and discussing "exchanging" key men? (Imagine GM's head saying to Chrysler's head "I have two excellent salesmen and you have three excellent advertising men. I'll give you one salesman for two advertising men. . .) In what other industry except baseball would managers deliberately price their best "wares" at figures they're sure no one else will pay?

Perhaps only a female doubling as a business reporter would so goggle at baseball's traditions. But having goggled, I am herewith substituting the words "it's baseball to me" for the cliche "it's Greek to me." Have I made a home run?

Caution Is Learned By Robert Kennedy

IT USED TO BE that Senator Robert F. Kenndey's answer to a political problem was a right to the jaw — figuratively speaking, of course. But time has taught him caution, and fate has instructed him in the uses of subtlety. In his dealings with the likes of Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach or the Secretary of Urban Affairs, Robert Weaver, Bobby still passes out the compliments with the back of his hand when he has them cornered on a Senatorial witness stand.

But New York politics are tough and sophisticated. Those who play the game have both muscle and moxie. So Bobby has changed his style. He has begun to learn how to roll with a punch, to bide his time, and to make compromises. So the fine careless rapture of the young man who told the politicians in 1960 that he didn't care whether or not they destroyed themselves just so long as they elected his brother is past. And it may be that by putting aside the appeal which ruthlessness evokes, Bobby is surrendering the Jimmy Cagney hold he has on a substantial part of New York State's voting public.

AS THE HOT AIR of summer and political rhetoric rolled in last July, Bobby Kennedy was at the height of his power in his "home" state. He had, so the newspapers seemed to believe, licked the machine politicians and with singlehanded fury won the New York City surrogate's nomination for his own man. His role as kingmaker seemed assured. But the machine poltiicians — the men who had elected him to the Senate in the first place — had long memories. When Bobby tried to block Frank O'Connor, the front runner for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, the bosses weren't having it, thank you.

Mr. O'Connor survived Bobby's displeasure and now stands ready to do battle with the politically ailing Governor Nelson Rockefeller. And one of the men Senator Kennedy had encouraged to try to snatch the prize from Mr. O'Connor, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., may well be on the ballot as the candidate of the rebellious Liberal Party. This will not do Frank O'Connor, president of New York's City Council, any good. His major strength will be in the metropolitan mishmash which calls itself a city, and here is where the junior Roosevelt will pull the most votes.

BOBBY KENNEDY is aware of the effects of his blooper, but given his decision to play it cool, he is trying to join the man he couldn't lick. Mr. O'Conner is willing to take any help Bobby can give him, but he is not likely to forget that when the chips were down, it was President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey who came to his aid. The question now is: How much good will Bobby do himself by giving the O'Conner bandwagon a push after the parade is over?

No one will be fooled into believing that the junior Senator from New York has his heart and pocketbook in the O'Conner candidacy — and if the voters begin to forget it, Governor Rockefeller will certainly be ready to remind them. It may well be that Kennedy support at a time when Bobby's motivation is so cynically clear will be an albatross around Frank O'Connor's neck. If Mr. O'Connor wins, moreover, he will not be overcome with gratitude for Bobby's help.

But the greatest damage of all should be to Robert Francis Kennedy. By embracing O'Conner, he is making rather bad hash of his image as a fighter for the "revolution of youth" and against the machine politics that he railed against during the surrogate race. Mr. O'Connor is not an ancient man but he represents the vested interests of Tammany Hall, the Buckley machine in the Bronx, and the ward heelers of Brooklyn and Queens. He is also, among New York's burning liberals, considered stodgy and conservative.

NOW THAT BOBBY has embraced caution and the quiet deal — putting aside his crusading passion — he will have to put his stamp of approval on all that Mr. O'Connor stands for, both good and bad. He will have to move away from the extremes of liberalism which have given him his noisy following among the beatniks, Vietniks, peaceniks, and New Leftists. To preserve the unity that he sought cap-in-hand from Mr. O'Connor and the machine bosses he will be forced to campaign against Mr. Rockefeller from the Right, rather than the Left.

In short, Bobby Kennedy will be one more politician grabbing for the brass ring of the Presidency — not the sterling idealist wearing the late John F. Kennedy's mantle. Will his present following swallow it all or will he be diminished among those who love him and those who fear him? A Bobby Kennedy ready to make so open a compromise, to turn away from his past assertions in order to salvage his prestige in New York, is not in any way reprehensible. That's the way of politics. It's only the dimensions that have changed — and that can be fatal for a man who would be President.

Republican Party's Left Is At It Again

OUR REPUBLICAN Party's left - wing fringe is at it again. They are still publicly moaning and groaning over the fact that even though they are a tiny minority in the party, everybody in the party is out of step except them. They are still trying to use the Republican Party as a base from which to launch political programs that are little more than carbon copies of Democrat Party programs.

Currently the case in point is a report put out by a group calling itself the Council of Republican Organizations. This group, of indeterminate membership, describes itself as representing 10 "progressive" Republican groups. What they mean, of course, is 10 little welfare-state splinter groups, all dedicated in one way or another to using the federal government as an instrument to regiment, rule and reconstitute every individual.

This particular group is particularly concerned by a remark I made recently in which I pointed to the perfectly obvious fact that the Republican Party basically is opposed to collectivist programs, stands for the individual against state coercion and can be termed conservative in today's mixed-up political labeling.

FROM THIS FACT, I drew another perfectly obvious conclusion: that at least three-fourths of the delegates to the Republican Party's next Presidential nominating convention also would be conservative, just as they have been year after year (and just as Democrat delegates have tended to be extremely liberal, despite the existence in their party of conservative splinter groups.)

Lo and behold, the Council of Republican Organizations has looked around the country and found that what I said was all true. Their report, which commanded attention far beyond that warranted by the group's actual stature, makes particularly painful noises about the fact that conservatives have "consolidated" power in the House of Representatives under Congressman Melvin Laird, the Republican Conference Chairman.

ALL THEY ARE saying, of course, is that Congressman Laird has consistently behaved like a Republican in the House and has not strayed off to become, as the Council apparently wishes he would, a Democrat in Republican clothing.

Actually, the Council could make the same charge against the majority of Republican congressmen. There are actually just a few congressmen on the Republican side whose actions are calculated to give the Council any comfort. Comparing the record of one of them with such Republican leaders as Melvin Laird and Gerald Ford shows why.

When John Lindsay, for instance, was in the Congress, and during the years from 1963-1966, he was a leader among those Republican congressmen whose votes provided the margin of victory for Democrat legislative programs time after time. In fact, 36 times a Lindsay vote provided crucial strength for the Democrats. Laird, on the other hand, only voted twice in such a way. Ford only voted eight times in such a way.

Republicans, whether the noisy left-wing fringe likes it or not, are conservatives. They are proud of it. They think their philosophy and programs will ultimately be best for the nation. And they are going to keep plugging away at it in the face of all the internal sniping as well as the growing socialism of the current Democrat regime.

Rights Bill Situation

As the situation stands right now, it is safe to say that Negro marchers and rioters have killed any chance of obtaining passage this year of a civil rights bill much more favorable to them than the present laws. There appears to be little likelihood that a civil rights bill, as it is erroneously called, will be passed this year. Instead, there is a strong probability that Congress will pass a rather stringent law against interstate promotion of rioting.

Two recent developments have lessened the chances of passage of a civil rights bill more favorable to integrationists and have increased the likelihood of adoption of a federal anti-rioting bill. First of these developments was the statement by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen that he considers the housing section of the civil rights bill now before Congress to be unconstitutional and that he will fight against its adoption in the present form. The second development was an outrageous outbreak of Negro rioting in Atlanta, Ga., in support of a Negro automobile theft suspect who was wounded by police.

News analysts recently have been saying almost unequivocally that the so-called civil rights bill, containing the housing section, cannot be passed over Senator Dirksen's opposition. There is strong reason to believe that sentiment in Congress has changed mightily and that many Congressmen who formerly were pushing for passage of the bill have no "stomach" for it now. They have been alarmed in two ways: first, their own direct reaction to Negro rioting, lawlessness, inflammatory speeches and demands for black power; second, they have sensed a mighty surge of public sentiment against such lawless and inflammatory conduct and are afraid of what their constituents might do to them in the November elections if they continue to support looters, arsonists, insurrectionists and killers.

Incidentally, it is well known that great numbers of Negroes, particularly in the South and including Louisiana, have no sympathy whatever for the lawless outrages and demands for black power. Not only are they aware that this type of demonstration will react terrifically against the acquiring of actual rights by Negroes but the common decency which most Negroes and whites uphold makes this sort of thing abhorrent to them.

The incident in Atlanta in which police were compelled to use tear gas to rout 1,000 rioting Negroes was another clear case of insurreaction. Heretofore, the shooting of a suspected criminal, either white or black, who refused to surrender, so that police might determine his guilt or innocence, has been regarded generally by white and Negro citizens as a permissible step in law enforcement. Rioting by the Negroes and attacks upon law enforcement officers acting in line of duty can scarcely be regarded as anything but insurrection.

One of the outrages of the Atlanta incident was that the peace-pleading mayor of Atlanta, who had promised a proper investigation of the shooting, was knocked to the ground from atop an automobile when police were attacked with rocks and bottles by a surging mob.

Leaders of the so-called Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee, which recently has adopted a policy of extreme violence and which has been spewing out propaganda long ago spawned by the communists of Russia, were in the forefront of the melee, thus giving almost positive proof that the militant insurrection against Atlanta police was communist - inspired.

Action of Governor Carl Sanders of Georgia in ordering state troopers to stand by to assist local police was commendable. In fact, it is difficult to see how he could have done less in the situation that existed and there is reason to believe that he would have been justified in calling out the national guard. When a state of insurrection exists, strong action must be taken to put it down.

When Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., climbed atop a car in a riot-torn Negro district and tried to reason with the crowd, he was greeted with taunts of "white devil" and "black power." The mayor was toppled from his perch and fell to the ground when the crowd surged against the car.

Showing his respect for law and order and apparently not in accord with the apparently communist-led riot, one Negro leaped atop another car and joined Mayor Allen in his plea for peace but was pulled down and beaten by about 15 Negroes.

After these incidents, the mayor ordered police to take whatever steps were necessary to disperse the crowd.

Senator Dirksen is right in saying the housing section of the proposed civil rights bill is unconstitutional. It would tear the heart out of our constitutional guarantee of the sanctity of the home and would make a farce out of this nation's guarantee of individual and personal freedom.

Coming at the time they did, the apparently communist - led riotings, burnings and killings may have been a blessing in disguise. They may have prevented the adoption of another Constitution-destroying law.

Space-Search Argument

Anyone who believes the United States and Russia are wasting money in their search for other inhabitable planets may have "another think coming" if he reads figures on the Earth's "population explosion." These figures reveal that the "standing room only" theory is not strong enough to cover the situation.

One of four situations is absolutely certain to develop within a fairly short time as history is measured. These four situations are: worldwide genocide, or partial extermination of humanity, by deliberate intent, such as through stringent birth - control regulations or by elimination of a certain portion of the population; decimation of the population by disease and starvation; decimation by war; fulfilling of the biblical prophesy of destruction of the entire world; discovery of additional living space, of which there is plenty.

Except for those who base their hopes on a hereafter known as heaven, none of these situations is attractive unless we are able to find places of residence on other planets.

Here are the population - explosion figures: At its present rate, Earth's population will double by the year 2000, which is only 34 years away. By the year 2600, which is only 634 years away, each earthling will have less than a yard of land. By the year 3600, which is only 1,634 years away (a short time as history goes), the weight of the earth's population would equal the weight of the earth itself.

With many nations already badly over-populated, even the doubling of the world's present population might present tragic problems. Recently, the amazing statement was made that half of the people born during the entire history of the world are alive today.

Time to look for more living space?

Gold Mining Subsidy Clash Seen

Administration And State Legislators At Odds

THE JOHNSON administration and a bipartisan group of Western and Midwestern legislators are on a head-on collision course over gold policies.

The stage for this explosive clash was set by little-noticed votes in the Senate and House.

Acting in close collaboration, the Interior committees of the two chambers rebuffed within 24 hours of each other, strenuous administration efforts to block bills to subsidize gold mining in the United States. The measures were approved by decisive majorities, and are now awaiting consideration by the Senate and House.

The controversial bills, while differing in methods and amount of subsidies, are designed to increase domestic gold production and to bolster the nation's steadily diminishing gold reserve.

As of September 1, these holdings had sagged to $13.2 billion — the lowest since 1938. At the same time foreign and other claims against this reserve rose to $26.7 billion — highest on record.

No one will be fooled into believing that the junior Senator from New York has his heart and pocketbook in the O'Conner candidacy — and if the voters begin to forget it, Governor Rockefeller will certainly be ready to remind them. It may well be that Kennedy support at a time when Bobby's motivation is so cynically clear will be an albatross around Frank O'Connor's neck. If Mr. O'Connor wins, moreover, he will not be overcome with gratitude for Bobby's help.

But the greatest damage of all should be to Robert Francis Kennedy. By embracing O'Conner, he is making rather bad hash of his image as a fighter for the "revolution of youth" and against the machine politics that he railed against during the surrogate race. Mr. O'Connor is not an ancient man, but he represents the vested interests of Tammany Hall, the Buckley machine in the Bronx, and the ward heelers of Brooklyn and Queens. He is also, among New York's burning liberals, considered stodgy and conservative.

NOW THAT BOBBY has embraced caution and the quiet deal — putting aside his crusading passion — he will have to put his stamp of approval on all that Mr. O'Connor stands for, both good and bad. He will have to move away from the extremes of liberalism which have given him his noisy following among the beatniks, Vietniks, peaceniks, and New Leftists. To preserve the unity that he sought cap-in-hand from Mr. O'Connor and the machine boys, he will be forced to campaign against Mr. Rockefeller from the Right, rather than the Left.

In short, Bobby Kennedy will be one more politician grabbing for the brass ring of the Presidency — not the sterling idealist wearing the late John F. Kennedy's mantle. Will his present following swallow it all — or will he be diminished among those who love him and those who fear him? A Bobby Kennedy ready to make so open a compromise, to turn away from his past assertions in order to salvage his prestige in New York, is not in any way reprehensible. That's the way of politics. It's only the dimensions that have changed — and that can be fatal for a man who would be President.

Republican Party's Left Is At It Again

OUR REPUBLICAN Party's left - wing fringe is at it again. They are still publicly moaning and groaning over the fact that even though they are a tiny minority in the party, everybody in the party is out of step except them. They are still trying to use the Republican Party as a base from which to launch political programs that are little more than carbon copies of Democrat Party programs.

Currently the case in point is a report put out by a group calling itself the Council of Republican Organizations. This group, of indeterminate membership, describes itself as representing 10 "progressive" Republican groups. What they mean, of course, is 10 little welfare-state splinter groups, all dedicated in one way or another to using the federal government as an instrument to regiment, rule and reconstitute every individual.

This particular group is particularly concerned by a remark I made recently in which I pointed to the perfectly obvious fact that the Republican Party basically is opposed to collectivist programs, stands for the individual against state coercion and can be termed conservative in today's mixed-up political labeling.

FROM THIS FACT, I drew another perfectly obvious conclusion: that at least three-fourths of the delegates to the Republican Party's next Presidential nominating convention also would be conservative, just as they have been year after year (and just as Democrat delegates have tended to be extremely liberal, despite the existence in their party of conservative splinter groups).

Lo and behold, the Council of Republican Organizations has looked around the country and found that what I said was all true. Their report, which commanded attention far beyond that warranted by the group's actual stature, makes particularly painful noises about the fact that conservatives have "consolidated" power in the House of Representatives under Congressman Melvin Laird, the Republican Conference Chairman.

ALL THEY ARE saying, of course, is that Congressman Laird has consistently behaved like a Republican in the House and has not strayed off to become, as the Council apparently wishes he would, a Democrat in Republican clothing.

Actually, the Council could make the same charge against the majority of Republican congressmen. There are actually just a few congressmen on the Republican side whose actions are calculated to give the Council any comfort. Comparing the record of one of them with such Republican leaders as Melvin Laird and Gerald Ford shows why.

When John Lindsay, for instance, was in the Congress, and during the years from 1961-1966, he was a leader among those Republican congressmen whose votes provided the margin of victory for Democrat legislative programs time after time. In fact, 36 times a Lindsay vote provided crucial strength for the Democrats. Laird, on the other hand, only voted twice in such a way. Ford only voted eight times in such a way.

Republicans, whether the noisy left-wing fringe likes it or not, are conservatives. They are proud of it. They think their philosophy and programs will ultimately be best for the nation. And they are going to keep plugging away at it in the face of all the internal sniping as well as the growing socialism of the current Democrat regime.

Homer Police Jail Group Of Negroes

HOMER, La. (AP)—A group of mostly schoolage Negroes was arrested here Friday for skipping school and staging a loud demonstration outside city hall.

Mayor Roy E. Loe said officers arrested the group after they gathered and started singing and shouting. Juveniles in the group, he said, were arrested for disturbing the peace and encouraging youngsters to miss school, a state violation.

The legislature reenacted the truancy law in the last session with an eye to crippling school boycotts and demonstrations by schoolage youngsters.

Charles Fenton, a civil rights worker, said the group picketed the school board office and city hall in protest to the firing of a janitor at the Pineview School last August.

Loe said the firing had no link with civil rights activities by the janitor as Fenton claimed.

Most of the youngsters arrested were released to the custody of their parents or guardians.

Three persons who attempted to see the arrested adults after the demonstration, were arrested for failure to heed police orders.

Miss California Wins 2nd Prize

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss California, who became her state's queen by default, won a second prize Friday night as she and talented Miss Oklahoma shared honors in the final preliminary round of the Miss America Pageant.

Charlene Diane Dallas, of Danville, Calif., who won the talent prize Wednesday night with her piano solo, dazzled the judges Friday night with her shapely figure to win the swim suit competition.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty inherited the title of Miss California when the original state queen relinquished the honor to continue her education. Charlene was the first runner-up in the state contest.

The 19-year-old California State College sophomore displayed her 35-22-35 figure in a bright yellow v-neck knit bathing suit.

Charlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dallas, is undecided between teaching and public relations as a career.

Miss Oklahoma won the talent prize Friday night by conducting the orchestra and singing a novelty tune, "One, Two, Three." The green-eyed brunette performed in tails, bow tie, and black sheer stockings.

A junior at Oklahoma City University studying music, Jane Ann Jayroe hopes to become an orchestra conductor.

But she said that prejudice against women may hamper her ambition.

The 19-year-old athletic beauty also has played basket ball "all my life." Her father, E.G. Jayroe, coaches a high school basketball team in Laverne.

Misses California and Oklahoma each were awarded $1,000 scholarships as preliminary winners.

They also increased their chances of becoming semifinalists, from whom the new Miss America will be crowned today night. In addition to Miss California the other previous winners were Miss New Hampshire, Nancy Anne Naylor, Miss South Carolina, Barbara Anne Harris, and Miss Ohio, Sharon Elaine Phillian.

Louisiana Places Case Before Court

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Louisiana went to the U.S. Supreme Court Friday with its claim that it does not come under the 1964 Voting Rights Act.

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said the questions whether illiterates may vote and whether federal observers may enter voting booths with illiterates also were taken to the high court.

He said methods used by federal examiners showed an abuse of authority. He described as arbitrary the selection of five parishes as locations for examiners. These parishes are East Carroll, East and West Feliciana, Ouachita and Plaquemines.

These moves came in an appeal from an Aug. 12 ruling against Louisiana by a three-judge federal panel at New Orleans.

"We are entitled to an appeal," Gremillion said, "and we are going to appeal regardless" of a new hearing set before the same three-judge panel in New Orleans Sept. 15.

Gremillion said his office did not ask for the appeals court hearing. Rather, he said, Sydney Provenzal, a Plaquemines Parish assistant district attorney, made the request.

But Gremillion said his office will take part in the Sept. 15 hearing as well.

The state maintains the appeals court failed to decide whether Louisiana came under the act in its August ruling.

"We produced evidence," Gremillion said, "to show that more than 50 per cent of the voters took part in the election of November 1964."

The Voting Rights Act was aimed at half-dozen southern states, including Louisiana. The factor determining whether a state comes under the law providing such steps as federal enrollment of voters and federal poll watchers is a finding that less than 50 per cent of the voters took part in the so-called trigger election.

Gremillion said the appeal also contends the right of illiterates to vote was not at issue originally in the case, nor was the right of observers to go into voting booths with illiterates.

"We contend that state law governs because the act is silent in those respects," he said.

In the earlier appeals court hearing, Provenzal contended the Voting Rights Act is unconstitutional as written and as administered in Louisiana.

Meredith In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — Negro leader James Meredith, who was wounded on a march through Mississippi earlier this year, will be the principal speaker at a civil rights rally here Monday night.

The rally, which will be sponsored by the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, will be held in the Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Dance Slated

The Cross Trailers Square Dance Club will hold a dance tonight at the Knights of Columbus Hall, with John Hozdulick — a Cedar, Tex., man — the featured caller. Dancing will begin at 8 p.m., said Charles Burdine.

Annual Church Barbecue Set

Rain will not halt the St. Thomas Episcopal Church's 12th annual barbecue from 5 to 7 p.m. today, according to the publicity chairman of the event. Hugh D. Smith said dinner will be served indoors in case of rain.

Tickets for the dinner, to be served on the church grounds, 308 Filhiol Avenue, may be obtained from any member of a Monroe Episcopal church.

Unit President

JONESBORO (Special) — Mrs. J. D. Walsworth was installed as unit president at a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Matthew-Simonton Unit No. 112, this week.

Other officers installed by Mrs. J. F. Ponder, of Ruston, Fifth District Chairman, were Mrs. Ira Bowman, first vice president; Mrs. Mary Tait, second vice president; Mrs. Clara Bramlett, secretary; Mrs. T. I. Colvin, chaplain; Mrs. Ona Maye Barnes, historian; and Mrs. J. E. Cornett, sergeant at arms.

New System Is Slated As Topic

An ordinance governing the use of the sewage disposal system in Ward 3 will be discussed at the Monday night meeting of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

The two-pond sewage disposal system will be completed in about four weeks, according to jury sanitation committee chairman C. W. Whetstone.

The ordinance covering the sewage disposal system will govern its use by commercial septic tank haulers and will take effect Jan. 1, 1967. The ordinance will set a license fee for haulers of $200 per year.

Fee arrangements were reached Thursday night during a meeting between Whetstone's committeemen and the six commercial haulers presently working in the parish.

The $1,500 construction project is designed to eliminate dumping of sewage into the Ouachita River. The ponds, covering two acres, are located off the Gourd Bayou Road.

If the jury approves the ordinance, septic tank haulers will be required to utilize the ponds or any other future system.

Where are the five oldest houses in the Monroe area and about when were they built?

Although there will be some questions about the ages of other homes and the possibility of the others being as old or older, these are the five that our researcher was able to find. (1) D'Anrmouer - O'Kelly house, 123 N. 6th St., Monroe, built originally about 1790, later added to; (2) Layton Castle, 1300 block of South Grand Street, Monroe, about 1810; the Stubbs House, 916 Riverside Dr., 1853; Filhiol home, 12 miles south of Monroe on Ouachita River, about 1855; and the Wooten Home, 2111 South Grand and Upper Pargoud home, (McSherry home) at the end of Island Drive. Both were built in the early or middle 1800's. Another old home, owned for years by the Miller Family, and later by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. (Eugenia Miller) Rowland, is located east of Monroe on what was originally known as the "Happy Home Plantation." The home has since passed through several hands. What is believed to be the oldest structure in Monroe is the former home, now being used by the Colonial Dames as a museum, located on South Grand street across from the old Ouachita Parish High School. It is reported to be the first brick building, also, in the area.

Who is, or was, the man called the "wild bull of the Pampas?" And what do they mean by the "pampas?"

The "pampas" are the grasslands, or prairies, of Argentina, particularly the area stretching from the Atlantic coast to the foothills of the Andes. The name comes from a Quechua Indian word meaning "a flat surface" and South Americans use it in the singular, "la pampa." The "wild bull of the pampas" was a term describing Luis Firpo, who fought Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship Sept. 14, 1923, at New York's Polo Grounds. Firpo stunned the boxing world, according to reports, when he knocked Dempsey through the ropes in the first round. But Dempsey came back to knock out Firpo in the second round. Ring Magazine, then 30 years old, called the battle "the fight of the generation."

Can a teacher who has tenure be dismissed because of immorality? What evidence is required?

Only in Orleans Parish, which established its regulation before the Louisiana teacher tenure law was passed, can a teacher be dismissed for immorality. The assumption in answering the question is that by "immorality," the questioner means sexual immorality. Under the tenure law, only three reasons are listed for dismissal — incompetence, dishonesty and willful neglect of duty. Dishonesty, of course, could be considered a form of immorality, so, to this extent, a teacher might be dismissed for immorality in the form of dishonesty. Sexual immorality, however, usually thought of with the use of the term "immorality," is not specifically named as a reason for dismissal.

Who determines at a school whether a child is to receive a "free" lunch or not? What is the basis of this decision?

Officials report that the final decision on this matter is made at individual schools and is ultimately in the hands of the principal. The determination is made solely on the basis of individual need.

● ● ●

Does the Code of Ethics permit a school board member to also serve as an employe of a municipality? Could there be a conflict of interests?

A conflict of interests is problematical, but there is nothing in school board regulations or in Louisiana school law to prohibit such a situation. The law does restrict school board members from working for that board; so, for example, a teacher or school bus driver could not be a member of the board employing him. They could, nevertheless, be members of another administrative body, such as a city council.

Who is supposed to keep up the property on the bayou side of Loop Road? Is any of this property city property?

Monroe officials say none of the property mentioned is city-owned. It is privately-owned and, therefore, the responsibility for upkeep and improvement is the property-owners.

● ● ●

Was the walnut paneling installed in the new city courtroom part of the architect's plans? Who paid for this addition and upon whose authority?

The architect's plans showed the courtroom as being of exposed brick, but the Monroe City Council, the authority for the bond-financed Goverment Center project, revised this in favor of wooden walls to "add dignity to the appearance." Mayor W. L. Howard lists the project mentioned as minor and not costing more than "$2,000 to $3,000" extra. "Almost all courtrooms in the state have wooden walls," he says.

● ● ●

Are there any plans to build a new road between Monroe and Sterlington? If so, when?

James W. Moore, fifth district highway commissioner, said the state highway board's plans call for improvement of U.S. Hwy. 165 across Chauvin Bottom, with work to be done no later than early 1967. The four-laning project will be dependent upon availability of funds. Long-range plans call for the four-laning of the Sterlington Road from Monroe to Bastrop, Moore said.

During World Wars I and II, he held the rank of cabinet minister in England. He served in the House of Commons for a number of years before going into the House of Lords in 1917 and Baron Beaverbrook. Lord Beaverbrook, in addition to other holdings, owned a string of Conservative, or Tory, newspapers throughout England and Scotland. At his death he was considered the most powerful publisher in the British Islands.

Red Chinese Reiterates Hard Line

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi has made a new statement on Viet Nam, declaring "there is no possibility of making compromises halfway."

The statement Thursday at a Peking reception celebrating Communist North Korea's anniversary led observers here to view it as a reaffirmation of Red China's hard line policy toward the United States.

Chen's statement, broadcast by Peking's New China News Agency (NCNA), came after Japanese correspondents in Peking earlier this week had reported he had told a Japanese delegation his country "is not necessarily dismissing the thought of talking with the United States" about the war in Viet Nam.

In his new statement, Chen also accused the Soviet Union and Japan of plotting with the United States to commit aggression in Asia.

He said the United States was "frantically reviving Japanese militarism and ceaselessly playing the trick of peace talks while intensifying and expanding its war of aggression against Viet Nam."

"The (Prime Minister Eisaku) Sato government was the most reactionary Japanese government since World War II," he added. "It had increasingly become an obedient tool in the hands of U.S. imperialism."

Chen said: "The only wary to bring about peace is for the U.S. aggressors to get out of Viet Nam immediately, totally, thoroughly and completely, otherwise, all talking about peace negotiations is rubbish designed to deceive people."

Chen went on: "We have to warn the Sato government: We are not in the least afraid of these activities of yours. U.S. imperialism is not all terrifying, nor is modern revisionism (Soviet communism). Nor is it terrifying to have Japanese reaction added to the plot. The willful and arbitrary actions of the Sato government can only plunge it into the abyss of disasters."

"The Chinese people resolutely support the appeal of President Ho Chi Minh, the great leader of the Vietnamese people. The only way left to the Vietnamese people is to fight through to the end, and there is no possibility of making compromises halfway."

Where are the five oldest houses in the Monroe area and about when were they built?

Although there will be some questions about the ages of other homes and the possibility of the others being as old or older, these are the five that our researcher was able to find. (1) D'Anrmouer - O'Kelly house, 123 N. 6th St., Monroe, built originally about 1790, later added to; (2) Layton Castle, 1300 block of South Grand Street, Monroe, about 1810; the Stubbs House, 916 Riverside Dr., 1853; Filhiol home, 12 miles south of Monroe on Ouachita River, about 1855; and the Wooten Home, 2111 South Grand and Upper Pargoud home, (McSherry home) at the end of Island Drive. Both were built in the early or middle 1800's. Another old home, owned for years by the Miller Family, and later by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. (Eugenia Miller) Rowland, is located east of Monroe on what was originally known as the "Happy Home Plantation." The home has since passed through several hands. What is believed to be the oldest structure in Monroe is the former home, now being used by the Colonial Dames as a museum, located on South Grand street across from the old Ouachita Parish High School. It is reported to be the first brick building, also, in the area.

Words Nil On Rowers In Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Lloyds of London said Friday they have heard nothing since Aug. 11 from two British newspapermen who are rowing across the Atlantic. A spokesman said they were sighted by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter when they were about half-way across the Atlantic.

The oarsmen—David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29—left Virginia Beach, Va., on May 26 in their 16-foot boat Puffin with St. Ives, Cornwall, as their goal.

Two other British oarsmen, Capt. John Ridgway, 27, and St. Shay Blyth, 26, reached Galway, Ireland, last Saturday after rowing across from Orleans, Mass., in 92 days.

Emphysema Treatment Methods Are Asked

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: There is one disease I haven't seen you write about in your column. Either I have missed it or I didn't pay much attention until I realized how much it meant to me.

The doctor says my husband has emphysema, and all he does for him is give him cough medicines. He says that is all that can be done.

Aren't there treatments or medicines that would help prevent it from getting too bad? Or give him more relief when the attacks of shortness of breath come on?

I feel there should be something I could do to help. I keep after him to stop smoking, but he says it would kill him to stop. — Mrs. C.

Comment: Either one of the reasons you suggest may be the answer to why you say you haven't seen anything about emphysema in the column. I have written about it frequently. After many years of seeing it increase among the population, this chronic chest condition is at last getting the attention it deserves at one of the major enemies of man.

THIN OUT

Briefly, for those who are reading about it for the first time, it is chiefly an affection of the small air spaces (alveoli) in the lungs which gradually thin out and break down; causing interference with proper exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood.

The patient has trouble expelling the air out of his lungs, and after a while this interferes with his getting sufficient oxygen. At first shortness of breath, cough, blueness of lips and other evidences of oxygen deficit come on only with exertion.

But later the patient cannot even walk a block without having to stop to breathe. And still later, he breathes "with all his might" to get oxygen even when sitting or lying down.

Sometimes the cause is unknown. In some people the lungs age earlier, and lose their normal resiliency. But most patients give a history of having a cough for a long time due to asthma, chronic bronchitis or other chest ailments. And there is no doubt that air pollution and cigarette smoking are important factors.

What I want especially to emphasize, Mrs. C., are two points. First, I know of not one doctor who will disagree that your husband has no chance at all to improve if he continues to smoke cigarettes. Better tell him it will surely kill him if he keeps on; his saying that it will kill him if he stops is just an excuse.

NO BENEFIT

The other point is this: I believe the accepted feeling of the medical profession is that when a doctor just prescribes cough medicine for an emphysema patient, the man isn't receiving the benefit of many recent innovations in treatment.

Special breathing exercises, walking with the aid of oxygen to gradually increase lung capacity, oxygen given by special machines, aerosol sprays to help breathing, antibiotics to fight chronic infection, are all ways to help the patient.

Therefore, I suggest that you ask your doctor if he will refer your husband to a chest specialist for consultation. He will take special function tests to determine lung capacity, and make other necessary examinations.

Just taking a cough mixture probably will not help. But your husband has a great responsibility, too. Nothing will help if he keeps on lighting those cigarettes.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My children and I have suffered from many pesky colds the past year. Is there any way to avoid them? Vaccines, perhaps? — Mrs. G.

Comment: I doubt the value of vaccines. All you can do is take the normal precautions that everyone knows about and wish for the best. One day we will be able to handle the cold threat.

School Mix Gets Warning Of Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama schools which have desegregated their faculties without a federal court order were warnred Friday by Gov. George C. Wallace that they are violating state law.

He called on them to take immediate steps to reassign all teachers to schools of their own race and at the same time to transfer pupils who have been integrated under a quota or percentage formula.

Wallace declined to say what action he might take if the school boards disregard his warning, but he told newsmen, "We might have to assert the police power of the State of Alabama one of these days."

The governor said he has been informed that several city and county school boards have integrated their faculties under the 1966 federal school desegregation guidelines laid down by the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

But at the moment, he said he could name only two such schools — Holt and Northport in Tuscaloosa County. He said he wasn't certain of the identity of the others.

Wallace first read a prepared statement which called attention to the recently enacted state law prohibiting school boards from agreeing to comply with he guidelines. He said, "Any assignment of teachers or students based on the guidelines is a violation of public policy of the State of Alabama."

The governor made the statements in a specially called press conference at the state Capitol.

Where faculties have been integrated, he said school boards should "reassign teachers forthwith," and where there has been quota or percentage desegregation of pupils, he said the board should make a "re-examination and re-evaluation of pupil assignments."

"Uppermost in our minds is the welfare and safety of the school children of this state, the peace and tranquility of this state," the governor said.

Friday's move is a followup to the antiguidelines law signed recently by Wallace after legislative passage. It rules invalid any compliance by school boards with the federal integration guidelines, and bars future compliance.

After many years of seeing it increase among the population, this chronic chest condition is at last getting the attention it deserves at one of the major enemies of man.

THIN OUT

Briefly, for those who are reading about it for the first time, it is chiefly an affection of the small air spaces (alveoli) in the lungs which gradually thin out and break down; causing interference with proper exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood.

The patient has trouble expelling the air out of his lungs, and after a while this interferes with his getting sufficient oxygen. At first shortness of breath, cough, blueness of lips and other evidences of oxygen deficit come on only with exertion.

But later the patient cannot even walk a block without having to stop to breathe. And still later, he breathes "with all his might" to get oxygen even when sitting or lying down.

Sometimes the cause is unknown. In some people the lungs age earlier, and lose their normal resiliency. But most patients give a history of having a cough for a long time due to asthma, chronic bronchitis or other chest ailments. And there is no doubt that air pollution and cigarette smoking are important factors.

What I want especially to emphasize, Mrs. C., are two points. First, I know of not one doctor who will disagree that your husband has no chance at all to improve if he continues to smoke cigarettes. Better tell him it will surely kill him if he keeps on; his saying that it will kill him if he stops is just an excuse.

NO BENEFIT

The other point is this: I believe the accepted feeling of the medical profession is that when a doctor just prescribes cough medicine for an emphysema patient, the man isn't receiving the benefit of many recent innovations in treatment.

Special breathing exercises, walking with the aid of oxygen to gradually increase lung capacity, oxygen given by special machines, aerosol sprays to help breathing, antibiotics to fight chronic infection, are all ways to help the patient.

Therefore, I suggest that you ask your doctor if he will refer your husband to a chest specialist for consultation. He will take special function tests to determine lung capacity, and make other necessary examinations.

Just taking a cough mixture probably will not help. But your husband has a great responsibility, too. Nothing will help if he keeps on lighting those cigarettes.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My children and I have suffered from many pesky colds the past year. Is there any way to avoid them? Vaccines, perhaps? — Mrs. G.

Comment: I doubt the value of vaccines. All you can do is take the normal precautions that everyone knows about and wish for the best. One day we will be able to handle the cold threat.

School Mix Gets Warning Of Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama schools which have desegregated their faculties without a federal court order were warnred Friday by Gov. George C. Wallace that they are violating state law.

He called on them to take immediate steps to reassign all teachers to schools of their own race and at the same time to transfer pupils who have been integrated under a quota or percentage formula.

Wallace declined to say what action he might take if the school boards disregard his warning, but he told newsmen, "We might have to assert the police power of the State of Alabama one of these days."

The governor said he has been informed that several city and county school boards have integrated their faculties under the 1966 federal school desegregation guidelines laid down by the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

But at the moment, he said he could name only two such schools — Holt and Northport in Tuscaloosa County. He said he wasn't certain of the identity of the others.

Wallace first read a prepared statement which called attention to the recently enacted state law prohibiting school boards from agreeing to comply with he guidelines. He said, "Any assignment of teachers or students based on the guidelines is a violation of public policy of the State of Alabama."

The governor made the statements in a specially called press conference at the state Capitol.

Where faculties have been integrated, he said school boards should "reassign teachers forthwith," and where there has been quota or percentage desegregation of pupils, he said the board should make a "re-examination and re-evaluation of pupil assignments."

"Uppermost in our minds is the welfare and safety of the school children of this state, the peace and tranquility of this state," the governor said.

Friday's move is a followup to the antiguidelines law signed recently by Wallace after legislative passage. It rules invalid any compliance by school boards with the federal integration guidelines, and bars future compliance.

Words Nil On Rowers In Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Lloyds of London said Friday they have heard nothing since Aug. 11 from two British newspapermen who are rowing across the Atlantic. A spokesman said they were sighted by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter when they were about half-way across the Atlantic.

The oarsmen—David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29—left Virginia Beach, Va., on May 26 in their 16-foot boat Puffin with St. Ives, Cornwall, as their goal.

Two other British oarsmen, Capt. John Ridgway, 27, and St. Shay Blyth, 26, reached Galway, Ireland, last Saturday after rowing across from Orleans, Mass., in 92 days.

Stock Mart Manages To Crave Small Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street displayed considerable caution regarding President Johnson's anti-inflation proposals but the stock market managed to carve out a small gain, Friday, its first in five sessions.

Trading was moderate. Volume totaled 5.28 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a virtually meaningless gain of .67 at 775.55.

Other statistics, however, showed a clearer verdict for the bullish side of the market. Of 1,389 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 657 rose and 469 fell. New lows for the year totaled 123 and new highs two.

Opinion was divided among businessmen and economists regarding the President's proposals, among them a 16-month suspension of the 7 per cent tax credit on business investment.

Among Wall Streeters — particularly the stock brokerage fraternity who usually are more avid to seize upon anything that can be construed as bullish news — a brighter construction was put on the proposals.

Bahce & Co. said that "we feel it is a plus item for the stock market." Shearson, Hammill & Co. regarded it as "a favorable influence at least on the near term behavior of the stock market."

E. H. Hutton & Co. expressed something of a minority opinion, saying that "we do not think this, of itself, will be enough to cause a reversal of the present market trend."

In yearly trading, in fact, the market looked more depressed than optimistic. Airlines, particularly, were down sharply. These and many other issues improved as the day wore on.

A great deal of the improvement was in glamor stocks and other faststepping issues which have a habit of losing big chunks of ground just as they have advanced greatly. Much of their late improvement was laid to precautionary short covering prior to a weekend. This is the purchase of stock to replace shares borrowed and sold short in the hope that lower prices would bring the sellers a profit. In a bear market, this pre-weekend buying to cover short positions is a species of profit taking.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .24 to 76.29.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.3 to 280.9 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .8 and utilities up 1.4.

The glamor stocks, in which large short positions have been reported, were dominant among the 15 most active stocks. Of these, 13 rose and two fell — not evidence in and of itself of market health, in view of the large population of short sellers in Wall Street these days.

Polaroid was the most active stock, up 3 at 137⅞ on 109,000 shares. Among other volume leaders, Xerox rose 8¾, Fairchild Camera 1¾, Eastern Air Lines 3, General Instrument 1⅞, TWA 2⅜ and Burroughs 1⅛.

Also among the most active stocks, General Motors dropped 1 and American Telephone ½.

Consolidation Coal was among the volume leaders, advancing ¾ to 67⅞. The company, which plans to sell most of its assets to Continental Oil, announced details of its liquidation plan. Continental Oil declined 1⅝.

Du Pont advanced 2, Anaconda 2⅛, Royal Dutch 1¾, New York Central 1½ and Raytheon 1¼.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. The Exchange's index rose $.07 to $13.21. Syntex was active and up 5 at 72½. Baifield Industries rose 1¼ and Federal Resources ¾.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were generally higher.

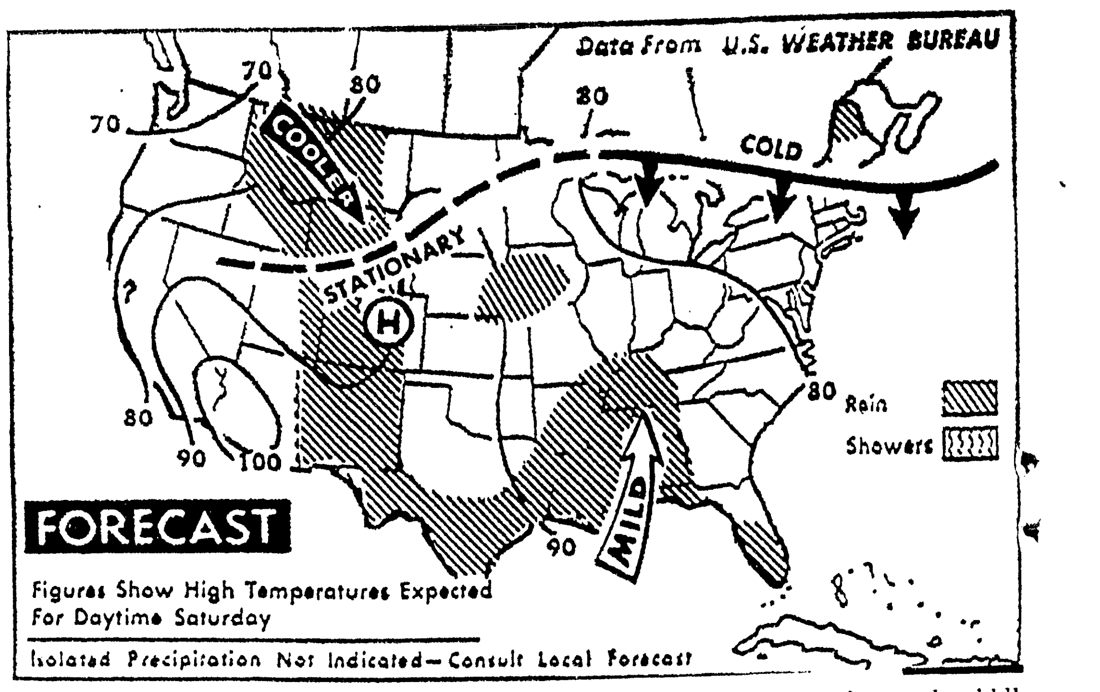
Business Activity Level High

Business activity in the state during the month of July maintained a high level of performance, but was unable to maintain the level reached in June, according to the monthly publication, "Louisiana Business Review."

According to the Index of General Business Activity kept by the Division of Research of the College of Business Administration at LSU, the General Index stood at 141.4 in July.

The figure, counting the period 1957-59 as 100, was up 8.3 per cent, compared with July of 1965, but down 2.7 per cent from the level attained in June of this year.

Gains were recorded in five of the six items making up the General Index, the business review said.



RAIN IS EXPECTED today along the Gulf Coast, southern portion of the Southern Plains, central Mississippi Valley and the Rocky Mountain region. Near seasonable temperatures are expected in the Lakes region and middle Atlantic states. It will be cooler in the northern Rockies and the Northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto)

Prices Are Strong On Grain Mart

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices became strong in the grain futures market in the early afternoon as speculators bid to cover short commitments against relatively light offerings.

Brokers said opinions about what the Government's estimate of corn production will be in its new monthly report were so widely different that few speculators were willing to risk either long or short positions over the weekend.

The report will be issued after the close of the market. Soybeans were ahead more than four cents at the extreme within the last hour of trading and wheat more than 2 cents. Other grains were up about a cent at best.

Wheat closed 2⅛ to 3½ cents a bushel higher, September $1.92; corn 1¼ to 2⅛ higher, September $1.34⅝-¾; oats ⅞ to 1¼ higher, September 74¾ cents; rye 1½ to 2¾ higher, September $6.30¼; soybeans 6⅞ to 7¼ higher, September $3.38¾-39.

Construction Of Swimming Pools Given

HOMER (Special) — Approval has been given for construction of two swimming pools, one at Homer and another at Haynesville, with federal funds obtained by the Claiborne Parish School Board through the State Department of Education.

The Homer site is adjacent to Mayfield School, and the Haynesville pool spot is on the Woodson campus. The pools will be 30 by 83½ feet, surrounded by ten feet concrete aprons and cyclone fences. Plans for pool management include the same as for present operation of municipally owned pools, open during summer months.

R. W. Atkins, director of the federally financed programs, told City Councilmen the school board will hire an architect and advertise soon for pool construction bids. Endorsement of the new programs also came from Harold Hollenshead, executive director of Claiborne Community Action, Inc.

Funds for the construction of the pools was approved by State Department of Education as a portion of the $323,000 Claiborne will receive during the school term. This is 85 per cent of the amount received last year.

Other projects to be operated under the program include a kindergarten for the parish, maternal center facilities available for instructional materials equipment and a football dressing room at Woodsen High School, according to parish superintendent of schools F. C. Haley.

Stock Mart Manages To Crave Small Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street displayed considerable caution regarding President Johnson's anti-inflation proposals but the stock market managed to carve out a small gain, Friday, its first in five sessions.

Trading was moderate. Volume totaled 5.28 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a virtually meaningless gain of .67 at 775.55.

Other statistics, however, showed a clearer verdict for the bullish side of the market. Of 1,389 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 657 rose and 469 fell. New lows for the year totaled 123 and new highs two.

Opinion was divided among businessmen and economists regarding the President's proposals, among them a 16-month suspension of the 7 per cent tax credit on business investment.

Among Wall Streeters — particularly the stock brokerage fraternity who usually are more avid to seize upon anything that can be construed as bullish news — a brighter construction was put on the proposals.

Bahce & Co. said that "we feel it is a plus item for the stock market." Shearson, Hammill & Co. regarded it as "a favorable influence at least on the near term behavior of the stock market."

E. H. Hutton & Co., expressed something of a minority opinion, saying that "we do not think this, of itself, will be enough to cause a reversal of the present market trend."

In yearly trading, in fact, the market looked more depressed than optimistic. Airlines, particularly, were down sharply. These and many other issues improved as the day wore on.

A great deal of the improvement was in glamor stocks and other faststepping issues which have a habit of losing big chunks of ground just as they have advanced greatly. Much of their late improvement was laid to precautionary short covering prior to a weekend. This is the purchase of stock to replace shares borrowed and sold short in the hope that lower prices would bring the sellers a profit. In a bear market, this preweekend buying to cover short positions is a species of profit taking.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .24 to 76.29.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.3 to 280.9 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .8 and utilities up 1.4.

The glamor stocks, in which large short positions have been reported, were dominant among the 15 most active stocks. Of these, 13 rose and two fell — not evidence in and of itself of market health, in view of the large population of short sellers in Wall Street these days.

Polaroid was the most active stock, up 3 at 137⅞ on 109,000 shares. Among other volume leaders, Xerox rose 8¾, Fairchild Camera 1¾, Eastern Air Lines 3, General Instrument 1⅞, TWA 2⅜ and Burroughs 1⅛.

Also among the most active stocks, General Motors dropped 1 and American Telephone ½.

Consolidation Coal was among the volume leaders, advancing ¾ to 67⅞. The company, which plans to sell most of its assets to Continental Oil, announced details of its liquidation plan. Continental Oil declined 1⅜.

Du Pont advanced 2, Anaconda 2⅛, Royal Dutch 1¾, New York Central 1½ and Raytheon 1¾.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. The Exchange's index rose $.07 to $13.21. Syntex was active and up 5 at 72½. Baifield Industries rose 1¾ and Federal Resources ¾.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were generally higher.

Construction Of Swimming Pools Given

HOMER (Special) — Approval has been given for construction of two swimming pools, one at Homer and another at Haynesville, with federal funds obtained by the Claiborne Parish School Board through the State Department of Education.

The Homer site is adjacent to Mayfield School, and the Haynesville pool spot is on the Woodson campus. The pools will be 30 by 83½ feet, surrounded by ten-feet concrete aprons and cyclone fences. Plans for pool management include the same as for present operation of municipally-owned pools, open during summer months.

R. W. Atkins, director of the federally financed programs, told City Councilmen the school board will hire an architect and advertise soon for pool construction bids. Endorsement of the new programs also came from Harold Hollenshead, executive director of Claiborne Community Action, Inc.

Funds for the construction of the pools was approved by State Department of Education as a portion of the $323,000 Claiborne will receive during the school term. This is 85 per cent of the amount received last year.

Other projects to be operated under the program include a kindergarten for the parish, maternal center facilities available for instructional materials equipment and a football dressing room at Woodsen High School, according to parish superintendent of schools F. C. Haley.

Tigers, Hornets Scrap To 0-0 Opening Draw

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

GREENVILLE, Miss. — "Knock" was the name of the game as Neville's Tigers and the Greenville Hornets locked up in a tight defensive duel and battled to a 0-0 tie in the opening game of the season for both here Friday night.

A crowd of approximately 4,500 witnessed the interstate contest and saw both potential scoring drives, only to be stopped short of the goal line as the defenses met each occassion and came out the victor.

Greenville, with a senior at every position and running from a pro set offense, started off looking like it would win easily, completely dominating the first half.

But led by defensive back Joe Coats, who recovered one fumble and intercepted a pass early in the game, and with the help of several linemen Neville contained the Hornets far short of the goal line.

Late in the first quarter, the Hornets' quarterback Larry Cox, a 180 - pound senior, completed a 33 yard pass to halfback John Phillips taking the ball down to the Tigers' 22.

Cox then moved the ball to the eight on a rollout keeper around left end but after a personal foul penalty moved the ball back to the 20. Coats intercepted a pass to end the threat.

Neville got a break midway into the second quarter when back to kick Greenville punter Jimmy Marshall received a bad snap from center and was swarmed up at his own 36 yardline.

With the running of Keith Moncrief and quarterback Bill McSherry Neville moved the ball down to the six yardline where on a fourth down play a complete pass picked up only four yards and the ball exchanged hands with the Hornets taking over on the two.

Gaeenville'sdefense sparkled brilliantly during the first half, holding the Tigers to a lone first down, that one coming on a peanlty. Neville was forced ot punt six times.

The Tiger defense also showed up brilliantly in the first HALF. Led by lineman Bob Garfield, Mike Campbell, Robert Patterson and Steve Smith, Neville, although giving up five first downs, forced the Horntes to punt five times.

The start of the second half wasjus t like the first — run three plays and punt — until Neville began a drive from its 41 and moved to the Greenville four before giving up the ball on downs.

Behind the running of Moncrief, the Tigers drove to the four onl 4 plays picking up four first downs in a drive that began late in the thirdquarter and ran over into the final stanza.

Moncrief carried the ball five times and picked up 23 yardson the 55-yard march. Quarterback Tom Brown called on fullback David Hochstetler on the four but he was met by a host of Hornet defenders and was stopped short.

The Tigers final threat came in the last minute of play when, taking the ball on their own 29, they moved to the Hornet 43 in three plays. Moncrief picked up 13 and halfback Mark Hanson 15 on two carries up the middle.

Moncrief gained 57 yards on 17 carries for the Tigers and Hanson 39 on just five trips.

The Tigers, playing without the services of halfback Tim Allen who was lost for the season in a jamboree season last week, outgained Greenville 142 yards to 64 rushing but came out on the short end of the passing yardage 80 to eight.

Neville completed only two of 10 tosses and had two intercepted, both by the Hornets' Cox who plays both ways. Cox completed five on 21.

Greenville had the edge in first downs nine to eight.

Allen Maxwell picked up the first tally on a 10-yard scamper, after which, the PAT failed.

Zeagler then capped the scoring for LaSalle with a two-yard run. He kicked the PAT.

The Tigers finished with 178 yards rushing and St. Frederick had 113.

Zeagler was the top ground gainer with 93 yards in 22 attempts. Tullos added another 32 in five tries.

The visitors' top scoring threat came in the second quarter when they pushed to the LaSalle 30 before being stopped.

LaSalle coach David Williamson, in his first year at the Olla school, praised tackle Ricky Tyler and linebacker Don Callender for their defensive work.

Ground Attack Carries Tigers By Rebels, 19-14

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

An underdog Jonesboro-Hodge team coupled a crushing ground attack with three key pass interceptions to overcome a seven point halftime deficit and defeat West Monroe, 19-14, at Rebel Stadium Friday night in the 1966 opener for both clubs.

The double-A Tigers of Coach Bobby Stone, labeled as a big question mark after suffering a three touchdown defeat against Ruston last week in jamboree action, looked anything but weak against West Monroe.

Using tremendous blocking by the entire offensive line — with special credit going to the right side that included Gary Williams, Grover Mann and Butch Adams — Jonesboro literally ran over the Rebs, piling up 364 yards on the ground.

Quarterback Randy Phillips led the Jonesboro offense brilliantly, calling on halfbacks Rodney Mize and Mike Womack and fullback Bobby Earle time and again. The results of their jaunts told the story of the game.

Mize finished with 155 yards on 21 tries, Womack picked up 70 in nine trips and Earle carved 68 out of the Rebel defense on 15 attempts.

But despite the powerful offense, two pass interceptions by Wade McBride and another by Ronnie Ray were equally important.

West Monroe jumped out in front 7-0 late in the first quarter on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Mike Riley to Randy Russell, the king-size Rebel end, and Randall Walker added the point after.

Phillips got Jonesboro back in the game with a beautiful twisting, weaving 27 yard scoring scamper at 8:56 into the second frame and Mann tied things 7-7 with his kick.

But again, Riley's arm proved accurate as he took the Rebs 70 yards to score in 11 plays after Russell set up the drive when he fell on a Jonesboro fumble, the only one of the night for either club.

After a 46-yard Riley to Danny White pass put West Monroe deep in Jonesboro territory, Russell hauled in another toss of 10 yards from Riley, and again it went for the score. After Richard Ware's PAT run West Monroe had a 14-7 lead that held up through the half. But not through the whole.

With the ground game really cranked up after intermission, Jonesboro had little irouble rammed for a third and fourth period score with Mize on the final carry both times.

Mize's first six-pointer came at the end of an 11-play drive covering 47 yards and the second capped a tantalizing 92 yard drive that featured a 39-yard scamper by himself and a 29 yarder by Womack. Both times Mann's kicks were blocked, but the third J-H score with 8:14 left in the game proved to be enough.

West Monroe had two opportunities after Jonesboro's last score but each were snuffed out by interceptions. First, McBride picked off a Riley toss at the Jonesboro 16 and about four minutes later, with 2:22 left, Ray was in the right spot for another thef, this one coming at the Jonesboro 15.

On the latter occasion, Jonesboro managed to hold onto the ball long enough to run the clock out.

Although Jonesboro's running attack was good enough to pile up 159 yards in the first half, West Monroe actually was in control most of the time thanks to the passing of Riley.

The senior quarterback threw 13 times in the first half and hit on seven of them for 136 yards. However, things turned sour in the second half as he failed to complete a pass in three attempts with two being intercepted.

Russell was West Monroe's top receiver, hauling in five passes for 55 yards and the two scores. Meanwhile, Phillips threw only three times and hit on two of them, once to Tommy Wilson for 18 yards and the other to Adams for 14.

Ware was West Monroe's most effective rusher, in fact, he was about the only successful Rebel runner. The senior fullback picked up 62 yards in 19 trips including a 13 and 16-yarder. Doyle Reynolds added 10 yards in five tries and Downey Barker had 14 on three carries.

Stolle Downs Graebner In Tennis Action

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Fred Stolle's rapier-like service returns defeated Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 Friday and set up an all-foreign semifinals in the National Tennis Championships.

Three Australians and defending champion Manuel Santana of Spain will battle it out for finals' berths.

Queenslander Roy Emerson, winner of the title in 1961 and 1964, paced his Davis Cup teammate into the round of four with a 10-12, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 triumph over another Aussie, lefthander Owen Davidson.

"It was like hitting aginst a stone wall," Davidson moaned afterward. "That guy gets the ball back so much he wears you out."

The only thing Americans had to cheer about in the tournament was the plucky play of 17 year-old Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, who battled her way into the women's semifinals with an upset 6-4, 6-4 victory over fourthseeded Francoise Durr of France.

Miss Casals and Nancy Richey of San Angelos, Tex., the only American women survivors, face a bleak prospect. Miss Casals' semifinal opponent today is Maria Bueno of Brazil, who smashed Norma Baylon of Argentina, 6-0, 6-1.

The third-seeded Miss Richey, co-ranked with Wimbledon chanpion Mrs. Billie Jean King as the No. 1 woman player in the United States, plays Mrs. King's second round conqueror, 18-year-old Kerry Melville of Australia.

The men's semifinals today send Santana, the Wimbledon king and No. 1 seed, against Australia's 22-year-old John Newcombe, and Emerson against Stolle.

Tigers, Hornets Scrap To 0-0 Opening Draw

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

GREENVILLE, Miss. — "Knock" was the name of the game as Neville's Tigers and the Greenville Hornets locked up in a tight defensive duel and battled to a 0-0 tie in the opening game of the season for both here Friday night.

A crowd of approximately 4,500 witnessed the interstate contest and saw both potential scoring drives, only to be stopped short of the goal line as the defenses met each occassion and came out the victor.

Greenville, with a senior at every position and running from a pro set offense, started off looking like it would win easily, completely dominating the first half.

But led by defensive back Joe Coats, who recovered one fumble and intercepted a pass early in the game, and with the help of several linemen Neville contained the Hornets far short of the goal line.

Late in the first quarter, the Hornets' quarterback Larry Cox, a 180 - pound senior, completed a 33 yard pass to halfback John Phillips taking the ball down to the Tigers' 22.

Cox then moved the ball to the eight on a rollout keeper around left end but after a personal foul penalty moved the ball back to the 20. Coats intercepted a pass to end the threat.

Neville got a break midway into the second quarter when back to kick Greenville punter Jimmy Marshall received a bad snap from center and was swarmed up at his own 36 yardline.

With the running of Keith Moncrief and quarterback Bill McSherry Neville moved the ball down to the six yardline where on a fourth down play a complete pass picked up only four yards and the ball exchanged hands with the Hornets taking over on the four.

Gaeenville'sdefense sparkled brilliantly during the first half, holding the Tigers to a lone first down, that one coming on a peanlty. Neville was forced ot punt six times.

The Tiger defense also showed up brilliantly in the first HALF. Led by lineman Bob Garfield, Mike Campbell, Robert Patterson and Steve Smith, Neville, although giving up five first downs, forced the Horntes to punt five times.

The start of the second half wasjus t like the first — run three plays and punt — until Neville began a drive from its 41 and moved to the Greenville four before giving up the ball on downs.

Behind the running of Moncrief, the Tigers drove to the four onl 4 plays picking up four first downs in a drive that began late in the thirdquarter and ran over into the final stanza.

Moncrief carried the ball five times and picked up 23 yardson the 55-yard march. Quarterback Tom Brown called on fullback David Hochstetler on the four but he was met by a host of Hornet defenders and was stopped short.

The Tigers final threat came in the last minute of play when, taking the ball on their own 29, they moved to the Hornet 43 in three plays. Moncrief picked up 13 and halfback Mark Hanson 15 on two carries up the middle.

Moncrief gained 57 yards on 17 carries for the Tigers and Hanson 39 on just five trips.

The Tigers, playing without the services of halfback Tim Allen who was lost for the season in a jamboree season last week, outgained Greenville 142 yards to 64 rushing but came out on the short end of the passing yardage 80 to eight.

Neville completed only two of 10 tosses and had two intercepted, both by the Hornets' Cox who plays both ways. Cox completed five on 21.

Greenville had the edge in first downs nine to eight.

Game Scrimmage

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana State ran through its final prearations Friday for today's game condition scrimmage — the last heavy-hitting session before the Sept. 17 opener with South Carolina.

Coach Charlie McClendon emphasized fundamentals and the kicking game in the drill and filmed portions of the workout. He plans to make some line up evaluations following the scrimmage.

Stolle Downs Graebner In Tennis Action

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Fred Stolle's rapier-like service returns defeated Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 Friday and set up an all-foreign semifinals in the National Tennis Championships.

Three Australians and defending champion Manuel Santana of Spain will battle it out for finals' berths.

Queenslander Roy Emerson, winner of the title in 1961 and 1964, paced his Davis Cup teammate into the round of four with a 10-12, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 triumph over another Aussie, lefthander Owen Davidson.

"It was like hitting against a stone wall," Davidson moaned afterward. "That guy gets the ball back so much he wears you out."

The only thing Americans had to cheer about in the tournament was the plucky play of 17-year-old Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, who battled her way into the women's semifinals with an upset 6-4, 6-4 victory over fourthseeded Francoise Durr of France.

Miss Casals and Nancy Richey of San Angelos, Tex., the only American women survivors, face a bleak prospect. Miss Casals' semifinal opponent today is Maria Bueno of Brazil, who smashed Norma Baylon of Argentina, 6-0, 6-1.

The third-seeded Miss Richey, co-ranked with Wimbledon champion Mrs. Billie Jean King as the No. 1 woman player in the United States, plays Mrs. King's second round conqueror, 18-year-old Kerry Melville of Australia.

The men's semifinals today send Santana, the Wimbledon king and No. 1 seed, against Australia's 22-year-old John Newcombe, and Emerson against Stolle.

Rathet Gives Packers, Chiefs Opening Nods

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the Baltimore Colts, with Johnny Unitas, beat the Green Bay Packers? Can the Buffalo Bills, with sore-armed Jack Kemp, hold off Kansas City?

Those are the two biggest questions on this week's pro football schedule, and only a Perfect Peerless Prognasticator would dare try to answer them.

But since the PPP passed up last week's opening three-game AFL program for an additional week of training, the record still is perfect, so here goes (all games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

National League

Green Bay 21, Baltimore 14 (Saturday night at Milwaukee) — The game will be televised nationally by CBS and it's more than likely that the eventual Western Division champ will be on display. With 30-year-old Paul Hornung running like 26 year-old Paul Hornung, the Packers are ready to duplicate their playoff victory over Cotsl, with or without Unitas.

Cleveland 35, Washington 17 — The Browns will be without Jim Brown for the first time in nine years, but Leroy Kelly has stepped in and made a strong showing. Sonny Jurgensen needs one completion for No. 1,000 of his career. He'll get it. The Browns will get the victory.

Los Angeles 28, Atlanta 14 — George Allen of Rams and Norb Hecker of Falcons make their coaching debuts but Allen, with Roman Gabriel installed as the No. 1 quartreback, will get to the victory circle first.

Chicago 24, Detroit 10 — Gale Sayers makes the Bears growl. The Lions, who just let fullback Nick Pietroasnte go, still have an inconsistent offense and may be having behind-the-scene problems too.

Minnesota 35, San Francisco 28 — A wide open affair between two offensive-minded teams. The Vikings would seem to have the edge because John Brodie, the 49er quarterback, reported late with his $$$.

Pittsburgh 17, New York 10 — The Steelers have a rookie fullback in Bill Asbury of Kent State but that's not as bad as not having one, which may be the Giants problem with Tucker Frederickson lost for the season.

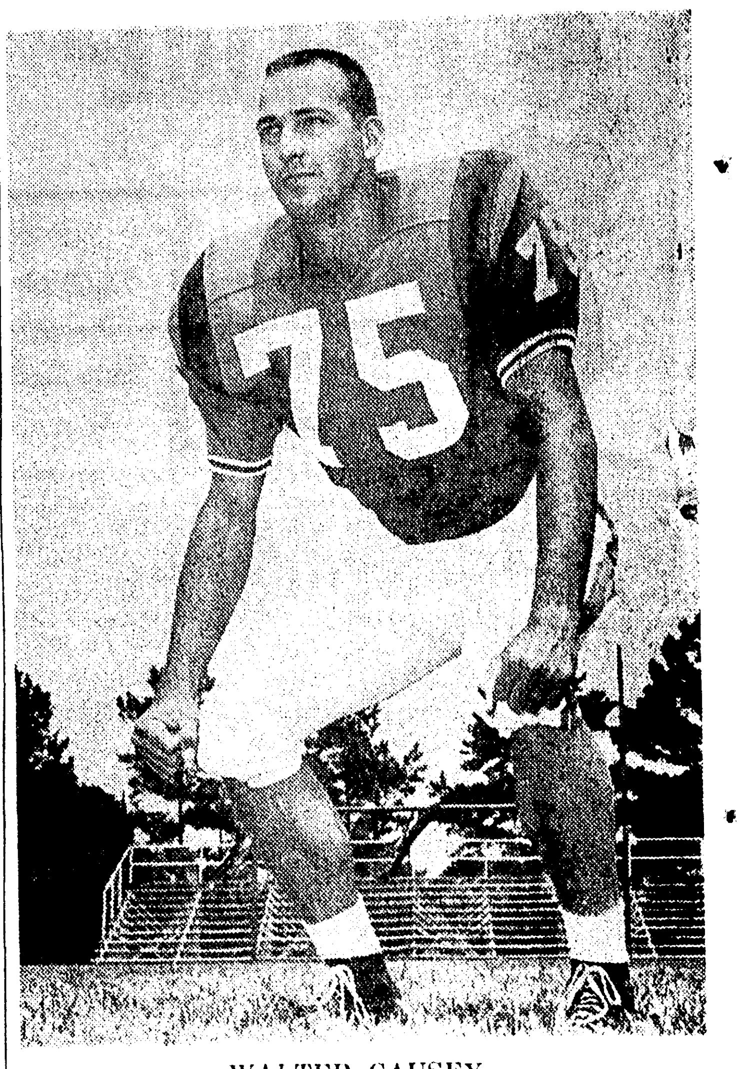
St. Louis 31, Philadelphia 21 — Charley Winner starts off a winner in his pro coaching debut but Charley Johnson of the Cardinals should have the edge over Norm Snead in a battle of quarterbacks who underwent off-season surgery.

American League

Kansas City 28, Buffalo 24 — The Chiefs are strong contenders for the Western crown and should be able to handle the Bills, who have run into trouble because Kemp still is being plagued with a sore arm that has cut down his efficiency. The game will be nationally televised by NBC and the Bills could wind up 0-2 in defense of their Eastern crown.

Oakland 31, Houston 28 (Saturday night) — Each team has one victory, Raiders over Miami and Oilers over Broncos, which means there isn't a good line on either. The guess here is the Raiders by a shade in a high scoring battle.

San Diego 24, Boston 17 — The Chargers, who opened with an impressive victory over Buffalo, will have to watch out for a letdown. That may be more difficult than watching out for the Patriots.



WALTER CAUSEY
. . . Louisiana Tech Tackle

Tech Dwindling Down To '2-Deep' In Spots

RUSTON (Special) — The Louisiana Tech Bulldogs' order of substitution held fairly steady through the first ten practice sessions of the fall. But, at a number of positions the original "three-deep" had dwindled to a "two-deep" with a suddenness that had the coaches mumbling to themselves.

The most critical situation appeared to be at the offensive tackles, where only senior Wayne Mathews of Springhill and sophomore Jerry Wilson of Tallulah could be called "seasoned." And Wilson's letter was won last year when the 240 pounder was a defensive end.

The early defection of freshman Don Wilson and a knee injury sustained by 210 - pound squadman Gene Smith of Logansport left Jerry Wilson holding forth all alone at the offensive right tackle slot. Then, Butch Williams, a 210 - pound squadman linebacker from Minden, was moved over to lend some support after impressive showings in recent drills.

But, in spite of that emergency measure, Tech is still only two - deep at the offensive tackles. Mathews' backing on the left side consists of Eric Moss, a 221 - pound ex red-shirt from Abbeville.

Perhaps the most pleasant surprise of the opening week's work was the consistently good performance of Walter Causey, a towering soph from Monroe. The six-five, 225-pounder vaulted past Shreveporters Terry Turner and Byron Sprawls into the first - team defensive left tackle berth and looked capable of taking a long - term lease there.

Other personnel shift moved junior tackle Wayne Gray to the second - team nose guard job, redshirt quarterback Ted Ward of Haughton to flanker back; frosh end David Lee Cutchins Of Springhill defensive end; freshman nose guard Kenny Wreyford of Springhill to de defensive tackle; and freshman guard Randy Sexton of Montgomery, Ala., to defensive end.

Smith's knee injury was not the only mishap to strike the Bulldogs. Junior safetyman Alden Reeves suffered a recurrence of a baseball shoulder injury that had the staff worried; second - team fullback Richie Golmon missed several days' contact with a bad shoulder freshman halfback Dwain Istre had a bad ankle; Butch Williams and Cutchins did time in the infirmary with a virus.

The snake - bite signals almost went up when freshman quarterback Terry Bradshaw gashed the forefinger of his throwing hand on a broken shower head, but the blond rifleman was back in action within 48 hours.

Plans call for two - a - day drills to continue through next Monday, with intensive afternoon sessions slated between then and the season opener against Southern Mississippi Sept. 17. The Bulldogs will hold a full dress scrimmage this afternoon.

How? Through my State Farm Mutual agent. He helped me get financing through a local cooperating bank. And that low cost bank financing really saves you money! Then I insured the car with State Farm too, and enjoyed the extra value of their insurance. Guess a lot of car owners save like this through State Farm. Later in the fourth reserve quarterback Jimmy Fryer dashed over from the seven yard line to put the skids to another Eudora drive but the kick went astray.

Pineville quickly struck back when Tommy Cardwell sprinted 85 yards up the middle with the resulting kickoff. The kick attempt by Mike Glascock failed to leave Jena with a 7-6 advantage.

Ronnie Moseley's run came when he picked up a Pineville fumble on his 38.

Despite the heroics by the Moseley boys, the real stars of the game were Jena's dfndrs the game were Jena's defenders who allowed only the kickoff return touchdown despite fumbles which gave Pineville the ball on the Jena 8, 29, 30 and 33 during the contest. WALTER CAUSEY
. . . Louisiana Tech Tackle

Tech Dwindling Down To '2-Deep' In Spots

RUSTON (Special) — The Louisiana Tech Bulldogs' order of substitution held fairly steady through the first ten practice sessions of the fall. But, at a number of positions the original "three-deep" had dwindled to a "two-deep" with a suddenness that had the coaches mumbling to themselves.

The most critical situation appeared to be at the offensive tackles, where only senior Wayne Mathews of Springhill and sophomore Jerry Wilson of Tallulah could be called "seasoned." And Wilson's letter was won last year when the 240-pounder was a defensive end.

The early defection of freshman Don Wilson and a knee injury sustained by 240 - pound squadman Gene Smith of Logansport left Jerry Wilson holding forth all alone at the offensive right tackle slot. Then, Butch Williams, a 210 - pound squadman linebacker from Minden, was moved over to lend some support after impressive showings in recent drills.

But, in spite of that emergency measure, Tech is still only two - deep at the offensive tackles. Mathews' backing on the left side consists of Eric Moss, a 221 - pound ex-redshirt from Abbeville.

Perhaps the most pleasant surprise of the opening week's work was the consistently good performance of Walter Causey, a towering soph from Monroe. The six-five, 225-pounder vaulted past Shreveporters Terry Turner and Byron Sprawls into the first - team defensive left tackle berth and looked capable of taking a long - term lease there.

Other personnel shifts moved junior tackle Wayne Gray to the second - team nose guard job, redshirt quarterback Ted Ward of Haughton to flankerback; frosh end David Lee Cutchins Of Springhill defensive end; freshman nose guard Kenny Wreyford of Springhill to de-defensive tackle; and freshman guard Randy Sexton of Montgomery, Ala., to defensive end.

Smith's knee injury was not the only mishap to strike the Bulldogs. Junior safetyman Alden Reeves suffered a recurrence of a baseball shoulder injury that had the staff worried; second - team fullback Richie Golmon missed several days' contact with a bad shoulder; freshman halfback Dwain Istre had a bad ankle; Butch Williams and Cutchins did time in the infirmary with a virus.

The snake - bite signals almost went up when freshman quarterback Terry Bradshaw gashed the forefinger of his throwing hand on a broken shower head, but the blond rifleman was back in action within 48 hours.

Plans call for two - a - day drills to continue through next Monday, with intensive afternoon sessions slated between then and the season opener against Southern Mississippi Sept. 17. The Bulldogs will hold a full - dress scrimmage this afternoon.

Rathet Gives Packers, Chiefs Opening Nods

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the Baltimore Colts, with Johnny Unitas, beat the Green Bay Packers? Can the Buffalo Bills, with sore-armed Jack Kemp, hold off Kansas City?

Those are the two biggest questions on this week's pro football schedule, and only a Perfect Peerless Prognasticator would dare try to answer them.

But since the PPP passed up last week's opening three-game AFL program for an additional week of training, the record still is perfect, so here goes (all games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

National League

Green Bay 21, Baltimore 14 (Saturday night at Milwaukee) — The game will be televised nationally by CBS and it's more than likely that the eventual Western Division champ wlil be on display. With 30-year-old Paul Hornung running like 26-year-old Paul Hornung, the Packers are ready to duplicate their playoff victory over Cotsl, with or without Unitas.

Cleveland 35, Washington 17 — The Browns will be without Jim Brown for the first time in nine years, but Leroy Kelly has stepped in and made a strong showing. Sonny Jurgensen needs one completion for No. 1,000 of his career. He'll get it. The Browns will get the victory.

Los Angeles 28, Atlanta 14 — George Allen of Rams and Norb Hecker of Falcons make their coaching debuts but Allen, with Roman Gabriel installed as the No. 1 quartreback, will get to the victory circle first.

Chicago 24, Detroit 10 — Gale Sayers makes the Bears growl. The Lions, who just let fullback Nick Pietroasnte go, still have an inconsistent offense and may be having behind-the-scene problems too.

Minnesota 35, San Francisco 28 — A wide open affair between two offensive-minded teams. The Vikings would seem to have the edge because John Brodie, the 49er quarterback, reported late with his $$$.

Pittsburgh 17, New York 10 — The Steelers have a rookie fullback in Bill Asbury of Kent State but that's not as bad as not having one, which may be the Giants problem with Tucker Frederickson lost for the season.

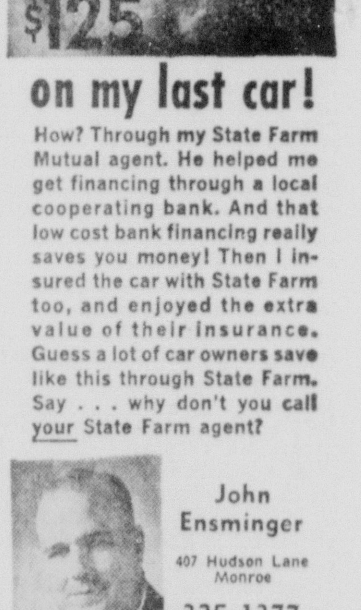
St. Louis 31, Philadelphia 21 —Charley Winner starts off a winner in his pro coaching debut. Charley Johnson of the Cardinals should have the edge over Norm Snead in a battle of quarterbacks who underwent off-season surgery.

American League

Kansas City 28, Buffalo 24 — The Chiefs are strong contenders for the Western crown and should be able to handle the Bills, who have run into trouble because Kemp still is being plagued with a sore arm that has cut down his efficiency. The game will be nationally televised by NBC and the Bills could wind up 0-2 in defense of their Eastern crown.

Oakland 31, Houston 28 (Saturday night) — Each team has one victory, Raiders over Miami and Oilers over Broncos, which means there isn't a good line on either. The guess here is the Raiders by a shade in a high-scoring battle.

San Diego 24, Boston 17 — The Chargers, who opened with an impressive victory over Buffalo, will have to watch out for a letdown. That may be more difficult than watching out for the Patriots.



SAVED $125 on my last car!

How? Through my State Farm Mutual agent. He helped me get financing through a local cooperating bank. And that low cost bank financing really saves you money! Then I insured the car with State Farm too, and enjoyed the extra value of their insurance. Guess a lot of car owners save like this through State Farm. Say . . . why don't you call your State Farm agent?

Thinking Out Loud

NOTES FOR A SATURDAY MORNING, while wondering how many of you would have believed five years ago that you'd live to see the New York Yankees in last place.

Thanks to the old greenback, we get a dose of college football one week ahead of schedule today when Syracuse visits Waco for a duel with Baylor . . . The game was originally set for Sept. 17 (next Saturday) but the dollar called and who's to turn down a shot on national TV over a little thing like lack of workouts. No matter who the team, I doubt very seriously if it could be ready for game combat in nine days — which is what Baylor and Syracuse have had for practice. The only consolation is that there will be an equal amount of unpreparedness, therefore, causing a below-par caliber of play to go somewhat unnoticed.

THERE'S MAGIC in the number 3 this year . . . If Alabama wins the SEC it will be only the second team to ever do so three straight years. The other was Tennessee in 1938-39-40 . . and should Buffalo's Bills repeat as AFL champion they will be the first professional football club in either league to win three straight titles . . . Louisiana Tech's 1966 football schedule has to be the worst in the school's history. Even without the two nightmares, a two-game home schedule can do nothing for team morale, or for a won-lost record.

How popular is the upcoming AFL-NFL championship game? Best to let firms vying for TV sponsorship answer that . . . Reportedly, they will be paying $125,000 per minute for advertising. Just think, in eight minutes they could pay John Brodie's salary (or mine, too, if they want to).

PREDICTION: Some prehistoric-thinking LSU fan is going to make an attempt to clobber Paul Dietzel when the Tigers entertain South Carolina next week. Granted, all Louisiana seems to be taking this as a personal opportunity to show Dietzel what we thought about his leaving Ole Lou. But let's hope Coach Mac and his boys treat Dietzel's club as just another season opening foe. If they point to this game as anything more, no matter what the press builds it up to be, the rest of the season could turn into a nine week anticlimatical nightmare.

How Sweet It Would Be

Can you imagine seeing sprinters Ronnie Fountain and Dalton LeBlanc in the same backfield at Northeast State? Well, if so, you might as well forget it. . . It's not likely to happen. I've heard many people wondering if Coach Dixie White intends to use either or both as running backs. A yes answer seems to center more around LeBlanc than Fountain. But it would be nice watching Fountain get the ball outside a few times, wouldn't it? However, the problem seems to center around him not being able to hold up as a blocker. He weighs only 155 — about the same as James Saxton, the jitterbugging All-American tailback from Texas about five years ago . . .

DON'T EXPECT GOAL POSTS to look like goal posts anymore in the pro ranks . . . To help avoid arguments about whether field goals went through the uprights or not, the goal posts are being raised 10 feet. No, not the cross bar — just the goal posts.

There is still speculation about the site for January's AFL-NFL championship football game. The leading choices, so I'm told, are the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl . . . However, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says "don't count out Miami just because the playoff bowl (between second place clubs) is being held there Jan. 8. We could set it up as a doubleheader."

And, asked about differences in rules of the AFL and NFL, now that they are expected to be one big happy ?? family, Rozelle said all rules would be standardized . . . The AFL has already increased its player limit from 38 to 40 to conform with NFL. Wonder what will happen to the conversion system? The AFL uses two-point style and the NFL one point. I suppose the one point system will be adopted, although I don't agree. A two-point style offers the possibility of much more excitement and it cuts down vastly on tie games.

WITH THE MERGER of the two pro football leagues plus the addition of two new clubs this year (Atlanta and Miami), the NFL is now 24 members strong. But did you know this is only two teams larger than the circuit was way back in 1926 . . . Some of the league members then were Racine, Wisconsin; Duluth, Minnesota; and Pottsville, Pennsylvania. The League dwindled back down to eight members by 1932. I can't imagine why?

While on the subject of merging, here's a couple of other combinations from the pen of Football News columnist Bert Sugar. Bert would go for a linking of the Jets and Rams, forming the "Jams." And, what about Lions and the Cards to play as the "Lards." It might be appropriate.

AND, THEN THERE'S the story about the college coach I met while walking down the street last week. Greeting me with, "What do you know," I answered back, "Nothing." Then, walking on by, he said without a grin, "Neither do I, but I have to go out on Saturday night and prove it."

Nicklaus Takes Familar Favored Role In Stride

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, graciously accepting his familiar role of favorite, faces a trio of strong challengers in the fifth annual World Series of Golf beginning today.

Although Nicklaus hasn't won a tournament since the British Open and has played only one round of exhibition golf in the last two weeks, he has been made the even-money choice over Billy Casper, Al Geiberger and Gene Littler.

Nicklaus originally qualified for the world series by winning the Masters and then paved the way for Little to grab a berth by capturing the British Open.

Casper, the national open champion, is a 2-1 choice followed by Geiberger, the PGA winner, at 5-1, and Littler at 6-1.

With Nicklaus winning two major tournaments and Casper also taking the Western Open, the first alternate tournament, Littler was accepted because of his Canadian Open triumph last year.

On the basis of recent performances, Geiberger could very well carry the favorite's role. He won the PGA on the vast Firestone course last month, and the American Golf Classic last year, over the same 7,180-yard layout which carries a 35-35—70 standard.

In each of those tournaments, Geiberger shot an even par 280 for 72 holes. Would Geiberger settle for a 140 par in this weekend's event?

"I wouldn't be ashamed of it," said the thin man who has helped peanut butter and jelly sandwiches regain popularity. "But I have a feeling it might take a better score than that to win the big money."

The "big money" is the top prize of $50,000. Second place is worth $15,000, third $7,500 and fourth $5,000 in the nationally televised event.

Casper, the leading money winner with a total of $107,665, is heading for golfer-of-the-year honors, and cold clinch it with a world series victory.

In addition to his national and western titles, he also has won the San Diego Open and the Indianapolis 500.

Littler has had a banner year although he has not won a championship. Seven times he has finished among the top five and three times he has finished second including a playoff loss to Joe Campbell at Tucson.

Despite the credentials carried by the other three, Nicklaus is the man to beat. Big Jack won the inaugural world series in 1962 with a two-round total of 135, five under par, and then repeated in 1963 by shooting an even par 140.

The late Tony Lema captured the 1964 World Series, the only year Nicklaus failed to qualify. Last year Nicklaus finished second to Gary Player.

2-B Dragons Trim Wildcats With First Period Tally, 7-0

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

WINNSBORO (Special) — The visiting Mangham Dragons scored the first time they got the ball and then hung on to take a 7-0 victory over the Winnsboro Wildcats befroe about 2,500 fans at Wildcat Stadium here Friday night.

The non-district clash was the regular season opener for both teams.

The Dragons, champions of District 3-B last year and now a part of the new 2-B loop, made a 59 yard run by Roy Weston stand up for the decision. Both teams had opportunities to score as the game progressed, but fumbles and intercepted passes thwarted their attempts.

The field was soaked by a downpour about two hours before game time, but the players did not seem to be slowed by field conditions.

After taking the opening kick off, Mangham set up shop on its own 29 yard line and drove to the 41 in two plays. It was from that point that Weston broke over he middle, cut back to his left and flashing downfield for the game deciding talley.

Tim Etier, Mangham halfback, ran the extra point over wtih 10:27 left to play in the opening quarter.

THE YARDSTICK

	Mangham	Winnsboro
First downs	10	8
Yards Rushing	177	91
Yards Passing	14	90

Had Intercepted	2	2
Punts-Avg.	2-38	5-26
Fumbles-Lost	8-4	2-1
Penalties-Lost	1-5	3-15

The rest of the game revolved around futile attempts by both teams to reach the scoreboard.

Mangham continued to play wide-open ball after its score, passing often, but unsuccessfully.

Etier was the big horse for the Dragons. The 145 pound scatback picked up a total of 77 yards to lead all rushers in the contest. Joe Banks, Etier's running-mate at fullback, ran for 39 yards while Weston picked up the vast majority of his 60-odd yards on his TD jaunt.

Winnsboro's Ronnie Winborne, 180 pound tailback, led the Wildcat attack wtih 64 yards rushing.

Mangham managed just two more first downs than the losers, gaining 10 to Winnsboro's eight.

The Dragon's best efforts came along the ground as they ran for a total of 177 yards while holding Winnsboro to just 91 yards rushing.

Mangham picked up only 14 yards through the air, completing just one of nine pass attempts but the infantry proved to have enough power to do the job.

Winnsboro totaled 90 yards through the air. Wildcat quarterback Lee Pankey connected on seven of 18 attempts.

Efforts To Restrict Merger Announced

CHICAGO (AP) — A group called Chicago Football Associates, previously seeking an American Football League franchise, Friday announced filing of a $12 million suit to prevent the planned merger of the National and American Football leagues.

Robert Nussbaum, Chicago stockbroker and head of the group, said the suit was filed in United States District Court Friday.

Nussbaum, who formerly operated the Chicago Panthers, a semi-pro team, said "our suit frankly was prompted by the stand taken yesterday by the government."

This was rejection by Rep. Emanuel Celler D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee of a plea by NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle to exempt the NFL-AFL merger from antitrust laws.

The suit charged that Chicago Football Associates were illegally denied an American Football League franchise in Chicago as a result of the intended merger.

"A week before the merger I thought I had an American League franchise for Chicago," said Nussbaum, who said he has two main Chicago backers.

"But it came as a bolt out of the blue when I talked to Lamar Hunt of the AFL expansion committee and was told that the merger precluded Chicago getting a franchise from his league.

"Our attorneys say we are on solid grounds in our suit for treble damages which is based on two and a half years of work trying to get a franchise and damages for loss of prospective profits from club operations, including television income."

Rep. Celler, in rejecting Rozelle's plea, instructed the two leagues to go ahead with plans to combine the two leagues, commenting: "There hasn't been any suit filed or any questions raised."

Nussbaum said he and his associates, William Krause, owner of a downtown chain of parking lots, and Arch Friedman, operator of a steel warehouse, began working on the suit after the NFL-AFL merger was announced June 8.

"We definitely feel the merger is in restraint of trade under the Sherman Act and also under the Clayton Act and are suing for damages on that basis," Nussbaum said.

"We still want a franchise for Chicago and it's up to the fans to decide whether Chicago can support two pro football teams."

The Chicago Bears have held a franchise here since the NFL's inception. Another Chicago NFL team, the Cardinals, shifted to St. Louis after the 1959 season, while the Chicago Rockets operated here unsuccessfully as a member of the now defunct All-America Conference.

Nussbaum operated the Chicago Panthers in the Central States Football League from 1962 through 1964.

Jets Need Aid To Beat Miami By 5

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The New York Jets, bolstered by the return of Joe Namath to action, needed all the help they could get Friday night to stave off a furious last-quarter rally by the Miami Dolphins and squeeze out a 19-14 victory.

Rick Norton of Kentucky, a quarterback who commanded almost as big a price as Namath, threw a 43-yard touchdown pass and Pete Jaquess, a recent pick-up from San Diego, intercepted a Namath pass for a 27-yard scoring run as the underdog Dolphins came close to pulling it out.

Pittsburgh Tops Cardinals, 3-2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 12th inning gave the National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over St. Louis Friday night.

The Pirates loaded the bases in the 12th on Matty Alou's single and two walks before Mazeroski delivered the tie-breaking run with a fly to center, snapping the Pirates' three-game losing string as well.

Alou led off with a single to center against St. Louis reliever Nelson Briles. Gene Alley sacrificed and Roberto Clemente, who had stroked four hits, was given an intentional walk by Joe Hoerner. Pinch hitter Manny Mota then walked, filling the bases, before Mazeroski came through.

The Pirates tied it 2-2 in the sixth when Clemente singled to right, took second when Mike Shannon fumbled the ball and scored on Willie Stargell's single.

The Cardinals had gone ahead 2-1 in the top of the sixth when Lou Brock walked, stole his 63rd base — tying the club record he set last year — and came across on Orlando Cepeda's single.

Cepeda also drove in the first St. Louis run, doubling in the first after Julian Javier beat out an infield hit and moved to second on an infield out.

Stargell's sacrifice fly in the Pirates' first knocked in Alou, who opened the inning with a single and moved to third on a ground out and Clemente's infield single.

Thinking Out Loud

NOTES FOR A SATURDAY MORNING, while wondering how many of you would have believed five years ago that you'd live to see the New York Yankees in last place.

Thanks to the old greenback, we get a dose of college football one week ahead of schedule today when Syracuse visits Waco for a duel with Baylor . . . The game was originally set for Sept. 17 (next Saturday) but the dollar called and who's to turn down a shot on national TV over a little thing like lack of workouts. No matter who the team, I doubt very seriously if it could be ready for game combat in nine days — which is what Baylor and Syracuse have had for practice. The only consolation is that there will be an equal amount of unpreparedness, therefore, causing a below-par caliber of play to go somewhat unnoticed.

THERE'S MAGIC in the number 3 this year . . . If Alabama wins the SEC it will be only the second team to ever do so three straight years. The other was Tennessee in 1938-39-40 . . and should Buffalo's Bills repeat as AFL champion they will be the first professional football club in either league to win three straight titles . . . Louisiana Tech's 1966 football schedule has to be the worst in the school's history. Even without the two nightmares, a two-game home schedule can do nothing for team morale, or for a won-lost record.

How popular is the upcoming AFL-NFL championship game? Best to let firms vying for TV sponsorship answer that . . . Reportedly, they will be paying $125,000 per minute for advertising. Just think, in eight minutes they could pay John Brodie's salary (or mine, too, if they want to).

PREDICTION: Some prehistoric-thinking LSU fan is going to make an attempt to clobber Paul Dietzel when the Tigers entertain South Carolina next week. Granted, all Louisiana seems to be taking this as a personal opportunity to show Dietzel what we thought about his leaving Ole Lou. But let's hope Coach Mac and his boys treat Dietzel's club as just another season opening foe. If they point to this game as anything more, no matter what the press builds it up to be, the rest of the season could turn into a nine week anticlimatical nightmare.

How Sweet It Would Be

Can you imagine seeing sprinters Ronnie Fountain and Dalton LeBlanc in the same backfield at Northeast State? Well, if so, you might as well forget it. . . It's not likely to happen. I've heard many people wondering if Coach Dixie White intends to use either or both as running backs. A yes answer seems to center more around LeBlanc than Fountain. But it would be nice watching Fountain get the ball outside a few times, wouldn't it? However, the problem seems to center around him not being able to hold up as a blocker. He weighs only 155 — about the same as James Saxton, the jitterbugging All-American tailback from Texas about five years ago . . .

DON'T EXPECT GOAL POSTS to look like goal posts anymore in the pro ranks . . . To help avoid arguments about whether field goals went through the uprights or not, the goal posts are being raised 10 feet. No, not the cross bar — just the goal posts.

There is still speculation about the site for January's AFL-NFL championship football game. The leading choices, so I'm told, are the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl . . . However, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says "don't count out Miami just because the playoff bowl (between second place clubs) is being held there Jan. 8. We could set it up as a doubleheader."

And, asked about differences in rules of the AFL and NFL, now that they are expected to be one big happy ?? family, Rozelle said all rules would be standardized . . . The AFL has already increased its player limit from 38 to 40 to conform with NFL. Wonder what will happen to the conversion system? The AFL uses two-point style and the NFL one point. I suppose the one point system will be adopted, although I don't agree. A two-point style offers the possibility of much more excitement and it cuts down vastly on tie games.

WITH THE MERGER of the two pro football leagues plus the addition of two new clubs this year (Atlanta and Miami), the NFL is now 24 members strong. But did you know this is only two teams larger than the circuit was way back in 1926 . . . Some of the league members then were Racine, Wisconsin; Duluth, Minnesota; and Pottsville, Pennsylvania. The League dwindled back down to eight members by 1932. I can't imagine why?

While on the subject of merging, here's a couple of other combinations from the pen of Football News columnist Bert Sugar. Bert would go for a linking of the Jets and Rams, forming the "Jams." And, what about Lions and the Cards to play as the "Lards." It might be appropriate.

AND, THEN THERE'S the story about the college coach I met while walking down the street last week. Greeting me with, "What do you know," I answered back, "Nothing." Then, walking on by, he said without a grin, "Neither do I, but I have to go out on Saturday night and prove it."

Nicklaus Takes Familar Favored Role In Stride

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, graciously accepting his familiar role of favorite, faces a trio of strong challengers in the fifth annual World Series of Golf beginning today.

Although Nicklaus hasn't won a tournament since the British Open and has played only one round of exhibition golf in the last two weeks, he has been made the even-money choice over Billy Casper, Al Geiberger and Gene Littler.

Nicklaus originally qualified for the world series by winning the Masters and then paved the way for Little to grab a berth by capturing the British Open.

Casper, the national open champion, is a 2-1 choice followed by Geiberger, the PGA winner, at 5-1, and Littler at 6-1.

With Nicklaus winning two major tournaments and Casper also taking the Western Open, the first alternate tournament, Littler was accepted because of his Canadian Open triumph last year.

On the basis of recent performances, Geiberger could very well carry the favorite's role. He won the PGA on the vast Firestone course last month, and the American Golf Classic last year, over the same 7,180-yard layout which carries a 35-35—70 standard.

In each of those tournaments, Geiberger shot an even par 280 for 72 holes. Would Geiberger settle for a 140 par in this weekend's event?

"I wouldn't be ashamed of it," said the thin man who has helped peanut butter and jelly sandwiches regain popularity. "But I have a feeling it might take a better score than that to win the big money."

The "big money" is the top prize of $50,000. Second place is worth $15,000, third $7,500 and fourth $5,000 in the nationally televised event.

Casper, the leading money winner with a total of $107,665, is heading for golfer-of-the-year honors, and cold clinch it with a world series victory.

In addition to his national and western titles, he also has won the San Diego Open and the Indianapolis 500.

Littler has had a banner year although he has not won a championship. Seven times he has finished among the top five and three times he has finished second including a playoff loss to Joe Campbell at Tucson.

Despite the credentials carried by the other three, Nicklaus is the man to beat. Big Jack won the inaugural world series in 1962 with a two-round total of 135, five under par, and then repeated in 1963 by shooting an even par 140.

The late Tony Lema captured the 1964 World Series, the only year Nicklaus failed to qualify. Last year Nicklaus finished second to Gary Player.

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

WINNSBORO (Special) — The visiting Mangham Dragons scored the first time they got the ball and then hung on to take a 7-0 victory over the Winnsboro Wildcats befroe about 2,500 fans at Wildcat Stadium here Friday night.

The non-district clash was the regular season opener for both teams.

The Dragons, champions of District 3-B last year and now a part of the new 2-B loop, made a 59 yard run by Roy Weston stand up for the decision. Both teams had opportunities to score as the game progressed, but fumbles and intercepted passes thwarted their attempts.

The field was soaked by a downpour about two hours before game time, but the players did not seem to be slowed by field conditions.

After taking the opening kick off, Mangham set up shop on its own 29 yard line and drove to the 41 in two plays. It was from that point that Weston broke over he middle, cut back to his left and flashing downfield for the game deciding talley.

Tim Etier, Mangham halfback, ran the extra point over wtih 10:27 left to play in the opening quarter.

THE YARDSTICK

	Mangham	Winnsboro

Had Intercepted	2	2
Punts-Avg.	2-38	5-26
Fumbles-Lost	8-4	2-1
Penalties-Lost	1-5	3-15

The rest of the game revolved around futile attempts by both teams to reach the scoreboard.

Mangham continued to play wide-open ball after its score, passing often, but unsuccessfully.

Etier was the big horse for the Dragons. The 145 pound scatback picked up a total of 77 yards to lead all rushers in the contest. Joe Banks, Etier's running-mate at fullback, ran for 39 yards while Weston picked up the vast majority of his 60-odd yards on his TD jaunt.

Winnsboro's Ronnie Winborne, 180 pound tailback, led the Wildcat attack wtih 64 yards rushing.

Mangham managed just two more first downs than the losers, gaining 10 to Winnsboro's eight.

The Dragon's best efforts came along the ground as they ran for a total of 177 yards while holding Winnsboro to just 91 yards rushing.

Mangham picked up only 14 yards through the air, completing just one of nine pass attempts but the infantry proved to have enough power to do the job.

Winnsboro totaled 90 yards through the air. Wildcat quarterback Lee Pankey connected on seven of 18 attempts.

Efforts To Restrict Merger Announced

CHICAGO (AP) — A group called Chicago Football Associates, previously seeking an American Football League franchise, Friday announced filing of a $12 million suit to prevent the planned merger of the National and American Football leagues.

Robert Nussbaum, Chicago stockbroker and head of the group, said the suit was filed in United States District Court Friday.

Nussbaum, who formerly operated the Chicago Panthers, a semi-pro team, said "our suit frankly was prompted by the stand taken yesterday by the government."

This was rejection by Rep. Emanuel Celler D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee of a plea by NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle to exempt the NFL-AFL merger from antitrust laws.

The suit charged that Chicago Football Associates were illegally denied an American Football League franchise in Chicago as a result of the intended merger.

"A week before the merger I thought I had an American League franchise for Chicago," said Nussbaum, who said he has two main Chicago backers.

"But it came as a bolt out of the blue when I talked to Lamar Hunt of the AFL expansion committee and was told that the merger precluded Chicago getting a franchise from his league.

"Our attorneys say we are on solid grounds in our suit for treble damages which is based on two and a half years of work trying to get a franchise and damages for loss of prospective profits from club operations, including television income."

Rep. Celler, in rejecting Rozelle's plea, instructed the two leagues to go ahead with plans to combine the two leagues, commenting: "There hasn't been any suit filed or any questions raised."

Nussbaum said he and his associates, William Krause, owner of a downtown chain of parking lots, and Arch Friedman, operator of a steel warehouse, began working on the suit after the NFL-AFL merger was announced June 8.

"We definitely feel the merger is in restraint of trade under the Sherman Act and also under the Clayton Act and are suing for damages on that basis," Nussbaum said.

"We still want a franchise for Chicago and it's up to the fans to decide whether Chicago can support two pro football teams."

The Chicago Bears have held a franchise here since the NFL's inception. Another Chicago NFL team, the Cardinals, shifted to St. Louis after the 1959 season, while the Chicago Rockets operated here unsuccessfully as a member of the now defunct All-America Conference.

Nussbaum operated the Chicago Panthers in the Central States Football League from 1962 through 1964.

Jets Need Aid To Beat Miami By 5

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The New York Jets, bolstered by the return of Joe Namath to action, needed all the help they could get Friday night to stave off a furious last-quarter rally by the Miami Dolphins and squeeze out a 19-14 victory.

Rick Norton of Kentucky, a quarterback who commanded almost as big a price as Namath, threw a 43-yard touchdown pass and Pete Jaquess, a recent pickup from San Diego, intercepted a Namath pass for a 27-yard scoring run as the underdog Dolphins came close to pulling it out.

Namath, injured in the first game of the American Football League exhibition season, took over in the second half after the Dolphins had given Mike Taliaferro a rough time in the early going.

Pittsburgh Tops Cardinals, 3-2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 12th inning gave the National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over St. Louis Friday night.

The Pirates loaded the bases in the 12th on Matty Alou's single and two walks before Mazeroski delivered the tie-breaking run with a fly to center, snapping the Pirates' three-game losing string as well.

Alou led off with a single to center against St. Louis reliever Nelson Briles. Gene Alley sacrificed and Roberto Clemente, who had stroked four hits, was given an intentional walk by Joe Hoerner. Pinch hitter Manny Mota then walked, filling the bases, before Mazeroski came through.

The Pirates tied it 2-2 in the sixth when Clemente singled to right, took second when Mike Shannon fumbled the ball and scored on Willie Stargell's single.

The Cardinals had gone ahead 2-1 in the top of the sixth when Lou Brock walked, stole his 63rd base — tying the club record he set last year — and came across on Orlando Cepeda's single.

Cepeda also drove in the first St. Louis run, doubling in the first after Julian Javier beat out an infield hit and moved to second on an infield out.

Stargell's sacrifice fly in the Pirates' first knocked in Alou, who opened the inning with a single and moved to third on a ground out and Clemente's infield single.

'Black Power' Advocate Held For Jury

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, a "black power" advocate accused of inciting a riot which left 15 persons injured, waived preliminary hearing Friday and was ordered held for grand jury action under $10,000 bond.

Carmichael, 25, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was transferred from the city jail to the Fulton County jail pending his release on bond or action by the grand jury.

The jury was in session Friday, but recessed without considering the case. A spokesman said it would be next week or possibly the following before Carmichael's case would be heard.

A hearing for Carmichael — arrested on a state charge of inciting a riot and a city charge of creating a disturbance — was delayed Friday when attorney Howard Moore Jr. asked for more time to prepare his case.

Moore later waived the hearing on both charges, and Municipal Judge T. C. Little fixed bond of $9,000 on the state charge and $1,000 on the city charge.

Little sent both charges to the grand jury for consideration.

Carmichael ignored questions asked by newsmen as he left the courtroom.

Two other SNCC members, William Ware and Bobby Vance Walton, are free on bond of charges of inciting to riot in the same disturbance. They were arrested during an outbreak of violence in a predominantly Negro section Tuesday.

Meanwhile, U.S. Dist. Atty. Charles Goodson said his office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are investigating possible violation of federal law during an incident at an Army induction center in Atlanta last month.

Goodson said federal authorities are investigating SNCC members in relation to the disturbance which resulted in the arrest of 12 Negro antiwar demonstrators who attempted to batter down a door and prevent entry of Army inductees.

The federal official said the investigation concerns possible violation of laws covering damage to government property and interfering with the Selective Service Act.

Scores of persons were arrested and 15 injuured in Tuesday's rioting which included brick, rock and bottle throwing. Police finally broke up a milling crowd of about 500 Negroes with tear gas after efforts by Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. to talk to the rioters went unheeded.

Allen braved flying objects thrown by Negroes and was forced to jump from the top of a police car when it was surrouunded and rocked back and forth by the crowd of demonstrators.

The white-haired mayor later directed Police Chief Herbert Jenkins and City Atty. Henry Bowden to meet with Fulton County Solicitor General Lewis Slaton and determine what course should be followed in prosecuting persons involved in the rioting.

"Let there be no misunderstanding of our intentions in the apprehension of these lawbreakers," he said.

Residents of the area where the rioting occurred — known as Summerhill — have begun a drive to convince city officials they would not cooperate in fomenting violence.

Robert McDaniel, 32, chairman of the newly formed Good Neighbor Club Committee in Summerhill, said residents are posting signs to show they intend to work constructively to improve their community.

Dollar Savers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ordnance cannisters filled with sand are being used to build revetments around munitions areas in Viet Nam, thus saving thousands of dollars, the U.S. Air Force announced. Suggested by sergeants in the 3rd Tactical Fighter Wing, the program saves the cost of sending the cannisters back to the United States for salvage.

'Serious Shortcomings'

Soviet Express Concern Over Levels Of Education

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet leadership expressed concern Friday about the quality of higher education in this country and ordered steps to improve it.

The Soviet press published a report on decisions enacted by the ruling Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party and the Cabinet, speaking of "serious shortcomings" in the training of specialists in science and other fields at Soviet institutions of higher education.

The shortcomings were not spelled out. But the importance of the problems was underscored by the fact that the leading party and government organs took steps to contend with them.

Only sketchy details were given on the measures ordered, but included these general moves:

— Increased investment in research and other facilities. Each Soviet government ministry was authorized to invest the equivalent of $2,775,000 a year in university training programs for specialists in its field — for example the Ministry of Health for medical specialists.

— Improved training for teachers and higher requirements for teaching posts.

— Increased teaching staff.

— Prizes and other incentives for outstanding student work.

— Increased control by the Ministry of Higher and Specialized Secondary Education on the quality of training programs at institutes.

— More leeway for university rectors to decide where research funds should be invested and the right for some to start university publishing houses.

The report said "the most important task" is "to improve the quality of the training of specialists." At the same time, steps were taken to improve ideological training in Marxism-Leninism and to increase party control over this field of education.

These two points underlined a difficult problem for Soviet authorities.

Dear Abby:

One Lecture Won't Change Bigotry And Bad Manners

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother was Jewish. My father was not. I married a gentile, and I suppose there are people who do not know my background although I have never tried to hide it.

To get to the point: Recently I was a guest at a cocktail party in the home of some very prominent and respected gentile people. Another guest started making small talk with me and in casual conversation he made some very degrading remarks about "the Jews." I remained silent, but of course I was hurt.

Now I am wondering if perhaps I should have said something. And if so, what?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Bigotry and bad manners are boorish, whether perpetrated on one who is half-Jewish or 99.44 Chippewa. Unless one would reveal his own insecurity, the best response is sincere (and silent) pity rather than uttered (and futile) censure. You cannot hope to educate a bigot with one short lecture at a cocktail party.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns my husband who I shall call "Stupid" because that's what he is. Stupid met a married woman who is nuts about the zodiac horoscope and he is up to his ears in astrology. She asked him when his birthday was and when mine was, and then she told him that he should be married to a Scorpio ("that's what she is) not a Virgo, (that's what I am) if he wanted a long life and a romantic one.

Stupid won't make any decisions or go on a trip or anything unless he asks his zodiac lady first. He believes everything she tells him. This woman is about to break up my home. What should I do?

STUPID'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Married women who put stars in the eyes of married men are buying a one-way ticket to outer space. Tell Stupid to come down to earth and knock off the foolishness.

DEAR ABBY: I am a very affectionate guy who married what I thought was a very affectionate girl, but boy, how she's changed.

At first she started making excuses like, "You'll muss my hair." Then it was, "I'm tired." Now it's come to the point where she says she doesn't care for "all that kid stuff."

I am 30 and she is 28. I made out better when I was single. Any advice?

MARRIAGE ON THE ROCKS

DEAR MARRIAGE: Level with her. Ask her why the big freeze. Perhaps you are less loveable now than you used to be. If all that has changed is your wife's attitude, get to the bottom of that. When a marriage goes on the rocks, the rocks are usually in the mattress.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about parents who punish their children by depriving them of their music lessons? My husband is a guitar teacher and his students love to take lessons. We often get calls from parents who tell us that Johnny can't take his lesson this week because he has misbehaved. Don't people realize that this is our livelihood?

TEACHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I would hope that children are given music lessons not so much to provide a livelihood for teachers, but to avail the child of a musical education.

Parents should find another way to "punish" their "little Johnny" and give him guitar lessons with no strings attached.

Problems? Write to Abby, c/o News-Star. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints From Heloise

Unbelievable! But Meat Tenderizer Removes Spots

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Over a cup of coffee, I'd like to pass on a trick I've learned. Did you know that unseasoned meat tenderizer will remove old, set stains from baby clothes?

I made a paste of the tenderizer and water, rubbed it into the spots on the shirts, and let it set. Then I scrubbed the spots with an old toothbrush.

The slight stain that remained came out easily when the shirts were washed with my regular laundry detergent which contains bleach.

C. M. B.

I think that you are a great one to figure out about the stains on little baby shirts.

I sent this hint to our chemist and he says that you are right.

The meat tenderizer DOES break up food particles! He also said that it will remove vomit stains when practically nothing else will.

He did suggest that you rinse the garment in vinegar water after using the meat tenderizer as it acts as a souring agent after the food particles are broken up.

And thanks oodles for this dilly.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Don't throw away those little plastic tubs that some margarines come in.

They are great as cereal bowls, especially if you have a lot of little ones . . .

If they are dropped they will not break.

They are also very good for hot soups, and don't get soft like some plastic bowls.

Mrs. Bone

Dear Heloise:

Please tell me how to remove our car bumper stickers.

Judging from the looks of many automobile bumpers, including mine, I think car owners would appreciate a hint on this subject.

Even the car wash people seem unable to get that gum off.

Anne D. Krickel

This problem really is a "sticky one!" And I am one of the many people who would appreciate a solution. If you have had any luck in removing those on-to-stay stickers, won't you share the answer with us?

Just write to me in care of this paper.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We suggest to our customers that they paint the risers of their basement stairs a bright yellow so they can be seen easily.

It will prevent many stubbed toes and falls.

Ray Phillips

Dear Heloise:

My baby wears ribbons in her hair all the time.

I haven't the time to iron them, or a place to keep them smooth. So I wash them out in the basin and smooth them out (shiny side down) on the mirror in her room.

They dry there nice and smooth, and stay on the mirror until peeled off.

Now, when I go to the closet to get her a dress, the matching ribbons are right there on the full-length mirror on the closet door.

Try it.

Mrs. Dean Roberts

Dear Heloise:

I thought the girls might want to know my way of washing small items like white shoe laces, nylon watch bands and powder puffs.

Be sure that the powder puff is stitched and not losing its filling, and then pin these small things to some large items such as a towel . . . and put them in the washer with your regular load.

Saves lots of time and really gets them nice and clean.

I leave my small items pinned to the towel till they are dry.

Edith

Delicately shaded pink roses, asters and flowing green ivy filled a silver tureen to form the luncheon table's focal decor. Silver goblets holding similar flowers flanked the centerpiece.

The honoree wore a trousseau model of light blue bonded crepe with long billowy chiffon sleeves. Black patent accessories completed her attire. Miss Wilbert chose an A-line model of tiny brown and white checks featuring a white bodice. Bone accessories completed her attire.

Miss Janey Wilbert, Mrs. R. W. Kimball, Mrs. Thomas O. Eubanks, Miss Mary Myatt, Miss Sissie Kotz, Miss Kathy Shaver, Miss Dana Tucker, Miss Janet Hood, Miss Ellen Pappas, Mrs. Antley and Mrs. Bryant, the betrothed couple's mothers, Miss Mary Bryant and Miss Virginia Bryant, were guests for the festivity.

SHOWER

Another prenuptial courtesy for Miss Antley was a kitchen and linen shower at Benoit Recreation Center. Mrs. R. W. Kimball and Mrs. Thomas O. Eubanks served as hostesses for the evening bridal party.

The guest book table placed at the entrance covered with white lace was decorative with white magnolias and greenery in a white compote.

White satin covered the gift table, with white lace over yellow linen used as covering for the refreshment table. At the party table an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums fashioned into a low contemporary design formed a colorful centerpiece and was flanked by crystal candelabra holding glowing yellow tapers. Crystal appointments were used for the party foods and punch served from this table.

Miss Antley wore a silk floral sheath in shades of coral, yellow and green complemented by a yellow feathered chrysanthemum corsage, a hostess gift. Her mother and her fiance's mother were presented white carnation corsages to enhance their party frocks. Mrs. Kimball was wearing a yellow A-line linen and matching accessories, and Mrs. Eubanks attired in a yellow silk sheath with lace accents.

Many close friends and relatives of the betrothed couple attended the festivity.

DEAR MARRIAGE: Level with her. Ask her why the big freeze. Perhaps you are less loveable now than you used to be. If all that has changed is your wife's attitude, get to the bottom of that. When a marriage goes on the rocks, the rocks are usually in the mattress.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about parents who punish their children by depriving them of their music lessons? My husband is a guitar teacher and his students love to take lessons. We often get calls from parents who tell us that Johnny can't take his lesson this week because he has misbehaved. Don't people realize that this is our livelihood?

TEACHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I would hope that children are given music lessons not so much to provide a livelihood for teachers, but to avail the child of a musical education.

Parents should find another way to "punish" their "little Johnny" and give him guitar lessons with no strings attached.

Hints From Heloise

Unbelievable! But Meat Tenderizer Removes Spots

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Over a cup of coffee, I'd like to pass on a trick I've learned.

Did you know that unseasoned meat tenderizer will remove old, set stains from baby clothes?

I made a paste of the tenderizer and water, rubbed it into the spots on the shirts, and let it set. Then I scrubbed the spots with an old toothbrush.

The slight stain that remained came out easily when the shirts were washed with my regular laundry detergent which contains bleach.

C. M. B.

I think that you are a great one to figure out about the stains on little baby shirts.

I sent this hint to our chemist and he says that you are right.

The meat tenderizer DOES break up food particles! He also said that it will remove vomit stains when practically nothing else will.

He did suggest that you rinse the garment in vinegar water after using the meat tenderizer as it acts as a souring agent after the food particles are broken up.

And thanks oodles for this dilly.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Don't throw away those little plastic tubs that some margarines come in.

They are great as cereal bowls, especially if you have a lot of little ones . . .

If they are dropped they will not break.

They are also very good for hot soups, and don't get soft like some plastic bowls.

Mrs. Bone

Dear Heloise:

Please tell me how to remove our car bumper stickers.

Judging from the looks of many automobile bumpers, including mine, I think car owners would appreciate a hint on this subject.

Even the car wash people seem unable to get that gum off.

Anne D. Krickel

This problem really is a "sticky one!" And I am one of the many people who would appreciate a solution. If you have had any luck in removing those on-to-stay stickers, won't you share the answer with us?

Just write to me in care of this paper.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We suggest to our customers that they paint the risers of their basement stairs a bright yellow so they can be seen easily.

It will prevent many stubbed toes and falls.

Ray Phillips

Dear Heloise:

My baby wears ribbons in her hair all the time.

I haven't the time to iron them, or a place to keep them smooth. So I wash them out in the basin and smooth them out (shiny side down) on the mirror in her room.

They dry there nice and smooth, and stay on the mirror until peeled off.

Now, when I go to the closet to get her a dress, the matching ribbons are right there on the full-length mirror on the closet door.

Try it.

Mrs. Dean Roberts

Dear Heloise:

I thought the girls might want to know my way of washing small items like white shoe laces, nylon watch bands and powder puffs.

Be sure that the powder puff is stitched and not losing its filling, and then pin these small things to some large items such as a towel . . . and put them in the washer with your regular load.

Saves lots of time and really gets them nice and clean.

I leave my small items pinned to the towel till they are dry.

Edith

Prenuptial Courtesies Fete Miss Barbara Gayle Antley

Miss Barbara Gayle Antley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walton Antley, whose fiance is George Edward Bryant Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Bryant Sr., is being entertained in honor of her approaching wedding dated for October 15. Miss Janey Wilbert chose as a prenuptial courtesy to the bride-elect a luncheon at Bayou De-Siard Country Club Saturday.

Delicately shaded pink roses, asters and flowing green ivy filled a silver tureen to form the luncheon table's focal decor. Silver goblets holding similar flowers flanked the centerpiece.

The honoree wore a trousseau model of light blue bonded crepe with long billowy chiffon sleeves. Black patent accessories completed her attire. Miss Wilbert chose an A-line model of tiny brown and white checks featuring a white bodice. Bone accessories completed her attire.

Miss Janey Wilbert, Mrs. R. W. Kimball, Mrs. Thomas O. Eubanks, Miss Mary Myatt, Miss Sissie Kotz, Miss Kathy Shaver, Miss Dana Tucker, Miss Janet Hood, Miss Ellen Pappas, Mrs. Antley and Mrs. Bryant, the betrothed couple's mothers, Miss Mary Bryant and Miss Virginia Bryant, were guests for the festivity.

SHOWER

Another prenuptial courtesy for Miss Antley was a kitchen and linen shower at Benoit Recreation Center. Mrs. R. W. Kimball and Mrs. Thomas O. Eubanks served as hostesses for the evening bridal party.

The guest book table placed at the entrance covered with white lace was decorative with white magnolias and greenery in a white compote.

White satin covered the gift table, with white lace over yellow linen used as covering for the refreshment table. At the party table an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums fashioned into a low contemporary design formed a colorful centerpiece and was flanked by crystal candelabra holding glowing yellow tapers. Crystal appointments were used for the party foods and punch served from this table.

Miss Antley wore a silk floral sheath in shades of coral, yellow and green complemented by a yellow feathered chrysanthemum corsage, a hostess gift. Her mother and her fiance's mother were presented white carnation corsages to enhance their party frocks. Mrs. Kimball was wearing a yellow A-line linen and matching accessories, and Mrs. Eubanks attired in a yellow silk sheath with lace accents.

Many close friends and relatives of the betrothed couple attended the festivity.

Making the announcement of Eaton's appointment to direct the world-wide alumni solicitation program was Shelby W. Davis, Lafayette, president of the LSU Alumni Federation. The Eighth Fund runs through June 30, 1967.

Eaton announced a goal of $125,000 for the fund, with contributions being used to support a variety of projects, including student scholarship, alumni professorships, faculty recruitment, publications and information programs, continuing education for alumni and the annual "Search for Scholars" program.

The grand jury investigated 17 cases of law violations in the parish and found eight true bills of indictment. The jury found no true bills in eight other cases and pretermitted one case.

In the jail inspection, the jury found that one cell, recently damaged by a prisoner, had been repaired.

Of the 16 prisoners in the jail, three are being held for another parish, five are serving sentences of the Eight District Judicial Court and eight are awaiting action on pending charges.

Planning Grants

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — The city of Alexandria received federal approval Friday for two improvement planning grants, but will be able to accept only one of them.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development approved grants totaling $116,900, one for a sewerage treatment plant and one for a water system.

The only grant available to the city will be one for $35,200 to plan improved sewerage facilities. And $8,700 grant for planning a water system has been superceeded by a larger grant of $5.3 million from the Economic Development Administration for water system expansion.

Plans Set Back

COLFAX (Special)—Plans for reviving the "burning well" got a setback Thursday when the loan bid for drilling a test well was turned down by the Grant Parish Police Jury because it was too high.

I. B. Henry, Pineville well driller, submitted a bid of $7,770 at the jury's regular meeting here. The jury had advertised for bids on a test well to determine whether the gas and water strata which once supplied a flaming fountain in front of the parish courthouse could be relocated.

The jury had agreed to share costs of drilling the well with the town council. Both the jury and town jury agreed to put up $2,000 each.

Lowery of Lisbon, Wards Six and Eight, three years; George Emerson of Homer, Ward Seven, two years; and Vernon James of Homer, Ward Seven, four years.

Alumni Fund Chief Named

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Accepting the general chairmanship of the Eighth Annual Louisiana State University Alumni Fund is Lewis W. Eaton Jr. of Baton Rouge.

Making the announcement of Eaton's appointment to direct the world-wide alumni solicitation program was Shelby W. Davis, Lafayette, president of the LSU Alumni Federation. The Eighth Fund runs through June 30, 1967.

Eaton announced a goal of $125,000 for the fund, with contributions being used to support a variety of projects, including student scholarship, alumni professorships, faculty recruitment, publications and information programs, continuing education for alumni and the annual "Search for Scholars" program.

He said that all former LSU students would be contacted and urged to contribute to the Eighth Fund.

Grand Jury Report Given

WINNFIELD (Special) — Prisoners in the Winn Parish jail were found to have suitable care, according to the report released Friday by the Winn Parish Grand Jury.

The grand jury investigated 17 cases of law violations in the parish and found eight true bills of indictment. The jury found no true bills in eight other cases and pretermitted one case.

In the jail inspection, the jury found that one cell, recently damaged by a prisoner, had been repaired.

Of the 16 prisoners in the jail, three are being held for another parish, five are serving sentences of the Eight District Judicial Court and eight are awaiting action on pending charges.

Planning Grants

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — The city of Alexandria received federal approval Friday for two improvement planning grants, but will be able to accept only one of them.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development approved grants totaling $116,900, one for a sewerage treatment plant and one for a water system.

The only grant available to the city will be one for $35,200 to plan improved sewerage facilities. And $8.700 grant for planning a water system has been superceeded by a larger grant of $5.3 million from the Economic Development Administration for water system expansion.

Plans Set Back

COLFAX (Special)—Plans for reviving the "burning well" got a setback Thursday when the loan bid for drilling a test well was turned down by the Grant Parish Police Jury because it was too high.

L. B. Henry, Pineville well driller, submitted a bid of $7,770 at the jury's regular meeting here. The jury had advertised for bids on a test well to determine whether the gas and water strata which once supplied a flaming fountain in front of the parish courthouse could be relocated.

The jury had agreed to share costs of drilling the well with the town council. Both the jury and town jury agreed to put up $2,000 each.

Work Noted On Hodge Chip Facility

HODGE (Special) — At Continental Can Corporation No. 528, Hodge, ground work is underway for a quarter-of-a million dollar purchased chip unloading facility at the paper mill here.

This facility will have the capability of unloading trucks and rail cars at a rate of 100 cords of chips an hour.

The chips will then be blown to the outside storage pile.

The engineering department here estimates the project will be completed and in operation by the latter part of 1966.

Commission Is Announced

HOMER (Special) — Lake Claiborne Watershed District's board of commission, appointed by the Claiborne Parish Police Jury, announced Friday, includes six men.

The district was created by a legislative act adopted during the summer, empowering the board to regulate Lake Claiborne and to establish hunting, fishing, sanitation and building requirements. The Watershed District supersedes a recreation district which the jury set up several years ago, and which was abolished by the jury at Wednesday's meeting.

Members of the commission represent geographic areas of the parish, and were appointed for terms of different lengths:

W. T. Bailey of Summerfield, Wards One, Two and Nine, three years; E. C. Sincox of Haynesville, Ward Three, four years; D. W. Gandy of Athens, Wards Four and Five, two years; F. M. Lowery of Lisbon, Wards Six and Eight, three years; George Emerson of Homer, Ward Seven, two years; and Vernon James of Homer, Ward Seven, four years.

Applications Being Accepted

Names of applicants are now being accepted by the Monroe Jaycees for their annual polio scholarship, according to Frank J. Parrino Jr., project chairman.

The scholarship goes to students engaged in or planning a career in the medical sciences. Parrino said names may be submitted to the Jaycee office at 400 St. John Street.

Money for the scholarships was collected during the Jaycees' polio innoculation campaign in 1963 and the scholarships are given in association with the Ouachita Parish Medical Society.

Permits For Construction Announced

Construction to benefit students played a large part in Monroe building permit statistics during August and during the second week in September.

Building permits for August totalled $3,249,150. The permit for the 11-story dormitory at Northeast Louisiana State College accounted for $2,842,000 of the total.

Additions to Robert E. Lee Junior High School, totaling $159,600, increased building permit statistics for the four working days following Labor Day.

Eighty-four building permits were issued by the Building Inspection Office during August, according to Dale B. Martha, coordinator of city building, electricity and plumbing.

Subtotals for the August building projects were 17 one-family dwellings, $274,600; the 11-story dormitory at the college; one maintenance building at the college, $31,000; one welding supply sales store, $20,000; 39 alterations or additions to residences, $34,750; 10 alterations or additions to non-residential buildings, $46,800; 11 moved buildings and four demolished buildings.

WEEKLY REPORT

Building permits totaling $260,250 in Monroe were approved by the Building Inspection Office during the second week in September, according to Martha.

Subtotals for the building projects were: Residential building, $83,150; residential additions and alterations, $176,100, and moved buildings, $1,000.

The largest construction project for which a building permit was issued, Martha said, was the addition to the Robert E. Lee Junior High School by Lincoln Builders. The school, 1700 North 19th Street will gain over 11,000 square feet of floor space at a cost of $159,600.

Permits were also issued for the following projects:

Residential buildings — Sam Douglas, 615 South 13th Street; Mrs. Fred Culpetter, brick parking lot stand at 110 North 4th Street; Lamesa Development Corporation, 2608 Marquette Street; Mid-South Homes, Inc., 505 Oregon Trail; Mid-South Homes, 308 Vegas Drive; B & A Builders, 206 Idaho Drive, and Gene Cox College Grocery, metal grocery store at 4008 DeSiard Street.

IRS, Police Hold Raids At Laplace

LAPLACE, La. (AP) —Teams of state police and Internal Revenue Service agents seized and destroyed over 85 one-armed bandits and horse racing slot machines Friday in a series of raids in St. John the Baptist Parish.

But Sheriff Percy Hebert refused to book arrested machine owners hauled in by the officers on grounds that state police did not have affidavits from a parish judge or justice of the peace.

Major John Robert Thomas, chief investigator for the state police, said his men would return to the parish when judges and justices could be found and sign affidavits.

Thomas said officers were unable to locate any judges or justices on either side of the Mississippi River Parish prior to the raids.

Penny Set In Her Ways At Age '133'

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — At 133, Penny Campbell is set in her ways. She likes to go for a stroll each morning, making her regular rounds of the neighborhood. She likes to linger in front of the house each afternoon to greet her friends, and soon after the evening meal she yawns and retires for the night.

Although she suffers from a "touch of arthritis" and a leg that was broken in her youth failed to heal straight, she is healthy and spry and has been sick very little in her life.

As a dachshund's life goes, Penny's long residence at 209 Beech Street has been pleasant enough and quite free of incident. All she asks is that she must have her "security blanket" before going to bed in the basket provided for her in her mistress' room.

Penny, a tan-colored dachshund who by the veterinarian's estimate is 133 years old, has lived all of her 19 years of life at the Campbell residence. That amounts to 13 decades, considering the fact that each year of Penny's life is equivalent to seven years in a human's life.

In 13 decades, she's seen them come and go. Penny was given to young Scott Campbell when the boy was two years old, but Scott grew up and at 22 married and moved to a nearby apartment.

Penny remained at home and turned her devotions to Scott's mother, Mrs. Scott Campbell. Penny is also devoted to an El Dorado, Ark., veterinarian who gives her regular shots and medical checkups and cortisone treatments.

Penny asks nothing more of life. She likes this quiet little Arkansas city and has no plans to leave it, as long as its citizens let her have her way. She likes to go for a stroll each morning, to linger in front of the house each afternoon and to curl up with her blanket soon after the evening meal.

High School Stadium Is Integrated

TALLULAH (Special) — Tallulah High School Stadium Friday night was integrated by about 100 Negroes with only minor incidents as over 30 state, parish and local law officers stood by.

A group of some 75 Negroes sat quietly on one side of the stands and watched the Tallulah Trojans defeat the Bastrop Rams 21-19.

When a group of five or six Negroes attempted to sit in a section near the Tallulah pep-squad and band, they were asked to leave by a group of white men.

Police halted the whites as they followed the Negroes out of the stadium.

The Negroes returned to the same area — this time 25 strong — and were seated as whites moved away or left the stadium.

Whites craned their necks to look at the Negroes, and several catcalls were heard. A few soft drink cups and popcorn missiles were thrown at the group.

Police climbed through the stands warning the whites against any such display. Tension was eased when a long run by the home team brought the whites to their feet.

The Tallulah band did not perform due to the steady drizzle that picked up at halftime.

After half-time, about a total of 50 Negroes returned. A group of six or seven, as they were leaving, called "We'll be back."

Before the game started, some 15 state police and local officers, some with riot helmets on, stood around the gate.

When the game ended, a near-capacity crowd filed out of the stadium quietly and quickly. Most of the Negroes in the stadium left shortly before the game ended.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 9-10

Fall schedules will become effective on Monday and are listed as follows:

Bookmobile No. I, Ward 2 and 10:

These schedules will be followed on a two-week schedule on the following dates: Monday, and Sept. 25; Oct. 10 and 24; Nov. 7 and 28; Dec. 12; Jan. 16 and 30; Feb. 13 and 27; March 13 and 27; April 10 and 24; and May 8.

Applications Being Accepted

Names of applicants are now being accepted by the Monroe Jaycees for their annual polio scholarship, according to Frank J. Parrino Jr., project chairman.

The scholarship goes to students engaged in or planning a career in the medical sciences. Parrino said names may be submitted to the Jaycee office at 400 St. John Street.

Money for the scholarships was collected during the Jaycees' polio innoculation campaign in 1963 and the scholarships are given in association with the Ouachita Parish Medical Society.

Permits For Construction Announced

Construction to benefit students played a large part in Monroe building permit statistics during August and during the second week in September.

Building permits for August totalled $3,249,150. The permit for the 11-story dormitory at Northeast Louisiana State College accounted for $2,842,000 of the total.

Additions to Robert E. Lee Junior High School, totaling $159,600, increased building permit statistics for the four working days following Labor Day.

Eighty-four building permits were issued by the Building Inspection Office during August, according to Dale B. Martha, coordinator of city building, electricity and plumbing.

Subtotals for the August building projects were 17 one-family dwellings, $274,600; the 11-story dormitory at the college; one maintenance building at the college, $31,000; one welding supply sales store, $20,000; 39 alterations or additions to residences, $34,750; 10 alterations or additions to non-residential buildings, $46,800; 11 moved buildings and four demolished buildings.

WEEKLY REPORT

Building permits totaling $260,250 in Monroe were approved by the Building Inspection Office during the second week in September, according to Martha.

Subtotals for the building projects were: Residential building, $83,150; residential additions and alterations, $176,100, and moved buildings, $1,000.

The largest construction project for which a building permit was issued, Martha said, was the addition to the Robert E. Lee Junior High School by Lincoln Builders. The school, 1700 North 19th Street will gain over 11,000 square feet of floor space at a cost of $159,600.

Permits were also issued for the following projects:

Residential buildings — Sam Douglas, 615 South 13th Street; Mrs. Fred Culpetter, brick parking lot stand at 110 North 4th Street; Lamesa Development Corporation, 2608 Marquette Street; Mid-South Homes, Inc., 505 Oregon Trail; Mid-South Homes, 308 Vegas Drive; B & A Builders, 206 Idaho Drive, and Gene Cox College Grocery, metal grocery store at 4008 DeSiard Street.

IRS, Police Hold Raids At Laplace

LAPLACE, La. (AP) —Teams of state police and Internal Revenue Service agents seized and destroyed over 85 one-armed bandits and horse racing slot machines Friday in a series of raids in St. John the Baptist Parish.

But Sheriff Percy Hebert refused to book arrested machine owners hauled in by the officers on grounds that state police did not have affidavits from a parish judge or justice of the peace.

Major John Robert Thomas, chief investigator for the state police, said his men would return to the parish when judges and justices could be found and sign affidavits.

Thomas said officers were unable to locate any judges or justices on either side of the Mississippi River Parish prior to the raids.

Penny Set In Her Ways At Age '133'

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — At 133, Penny Campbell is set in her ways. She likes to go for a stroll each morning, making her regular rounds of the neighborhood. She likes to linger in front of the house each afternoon to greet her friends, and soon after the evening meal she yawns and retires for the night.

Although she suffers from a "touch of arthritis" and a leg that was broken in her youth failed to heal straight, she is healthy and spry and has been sick very little in her life.

As a dachshund's life goes, Penny's long residence at 209 Beech Street has been pleasant enough and quite free of incident. All she asks is that she must have her "security blanket" before going to bed in the basket provided for her in her mistress' room.

Penny, a tan-colored dachshund who by the veterinarian's estimate is 133 years old, has lived all of her 19 years of life at the Campbell residence. That amounts to 13 decades, considering the fact that each year of Penny's life is equivalent to seven years in a human's life.

In 13 decades, she's seen them come and go. Penny was given to young Scott Campbell when the boy was two years old, but Scott grew up and at 22 married and moved to a nearby apartment.

Penny remained at home and turned her devotions to Scott's mother, Mrs. Scott Campbell. Penny is also devoted to an El Dorado, Ark., veterinarian who gives her regular shots and medical checkups and cortisone treatments.

Penny asks nothing more of life. She likes this quiet little Arkansas city and has no plans to leave it, as long as its citizens let her have her way. She likes to go for a stroll each morning, to linger in front of the house each afternoon and to curl up with her blanket soon after the evening meal.

High School Stadium Is Integrated

TALLULAH (Special) — Tallulah High School Stadium Friday night was integrated by about 100 Negroes with only minor incidents as over 30 state, parish and local law officers stood by.

A group of some 75 Negroes sat quietly on one side of the stands and watched the Tallulah Trojans defeat the Bastrop Rams 21-19.

When a group of five or six Negroes attempted to sit in a section near the Tallulah pep-squad and band, they were asked to leave by a group of white men.

Police halted the whites as they followed the Negroes out of the stadium.

The Negroes returned to the same area — this time 25 strong — and were seated as whites moved away or left the stadium.

Whites craned their necks to look at the Negroes, and several catcalls were heard. A few soft drink cups and popcorn missiles were thrown at the group.

Police climbed through the stands warning the whites against any such display. Tension was eased when a long run by the home team brought the whites to their feet.

The Tallulah band did not perform due to the steady drizzle that picked up at halftime.

After half-time, about a total of 50 Negroes returned. A group of six or seven, as they were leaving, called "We'll be back."

Before the game started, some 15 state police and local officers, some with riot helmets on, stood around the gate.

When the game ended, a near-capacity crowd filed out of the stadium quietly and quickly. Most of the Negroes in the stadium left shortly before the game ended.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 9-10

The Negro fled when Mrs. Bowden ran into the street to seek help. The mayor's wife gave police a full description of the intruder.

Syrian Leaders Crush Coup Try

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The government announced Friday an attempted coup was crushed Thursday night and those responsible "have been liquidated for good." It was the second attempt to overthrow the regime in three days.

There were clashes between military units outside Damascus and there were two shooting incidents in the capital early Friday but there was no immediate estimate of casualties. About 200 persons were reported under arrest.

The attempt to overthrow the government, like the one Tuesday, appeared to be the latest chapter in a continuing struggle for power within the ruling Baath Socialist party.

The National Command of the Baath party, now in power, overthrew supporters of the so-called "International Command" in a coup Feb. 23. Three former Baath leaders arrested then were accused of attempting Tuesday's coup. About 300 persons were arrested Tuesday and Wednesday.

Premier Youssef Zayyen announced over Damascus radio the crushing of the latest coup. In saying the leaders were liquidated, he indicated they had been killed or executed.

Syria's borders with the outside world remained closed after being opened partly for an hour after the curfew was lifted. A threat of civil war in the country appeared to have temporarily abated and within minutes after the curfew was lifted at 5 p.m., shops and cafes started to reopen, and people poured onto the streets.

Tanks and other armored units that had cordoned off the Ministry of Defense and the radio station were removed. Troop patrols disappeared from the streets.
